THE INSTITUTE

Tuskegee Institute is a co-educational, privately controlled, professional, scientific, and technical institution, with regional accredation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and with specialized approval for several of its programs — Nursing, Dietetics, Veterinary Medicine, and Teacher Education — from their respective national associations. Founded by Booker T. Washington in 1881, this independent institution is located in Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, one mile west of the town of Tuskegee.

Thirty-two (32) degree-granting courses of study constitute the curricula for seven major areas of instruction — College of Arts and Sciences, Schools of Applied Sciences, Education, Engineering, Veterinary Medicine, and Department of Physical Education. Graduate programs are offered in the College of arts and Sciences and in the Schools of Education. Engineering College of arts and Sciences and in the Schools of Education, Engineering and Applied Sciences.

Special features in Tuskegee's program include: The George Washington Carver Museum; the George Washington Carver Research Foundation; the John A. Andrew Hospital; the Department of Social Sciences Research; and the Reserve Officers Training Corps for the Army and Air Force.

Tuskegee Institute – a center of learning and service – was founded for the good of a people. has developed into an instrument of discovery and transmission of knowledge, devoted to continuing service to a total society. A vital research center, Tuskegee strives to contribute to man's knowledge, and to fill adequately our role as a servant organization of society, enhancing a richer campus community and community-world understanding.

The George Washington Carver Museum erected in 1915 stands in memory of Dr. Carver and is the home of many scientific inventions and discoveries. It is also an art gallery for the campus and the Tuskegee community.

Dorothy Hall, given by Misses Carolyn and Olivia Stokes in 1901 is the guest house for visitors to the campus. It accomodates ninetysix guests.

Dedicated To...

JAMES W. WOODSON

Mr. James W. Woodson is a native of Fairmont, West Virginia, where he graduated from Dunbar High School in 1937, after having served as class president for five years. He entered Tuskegee Institute in September, 1937 on the Five Year Work-Scholarship Program and graduated in 1941 with high honors, earning the Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education.

During World War II, James Woodson was a Second Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers and was on duty part of the time in England. Subsequently, he worked for 14 years in the Shipping Department of the Republic Steel Corporation in Youngstown, where he also served for 12 years as a Departmental Labor Representative for Local Union #2216. During this period he studied electronics with the Radio-Television Training School of Los Angeles and became a technician in that field. Through self-study and association with natives, Mr. Woodson learned to speak the French, German, Spanish and Italian languages.

Since January 12, 1959, Mr. Woodson has been Director of Alumni Affairs for Tuskegee Institute and also Executive Director of the Tuskegee National Alumni Association, which now has five organized Regions and 93 local Tuskegee Clubs throughout the United States. In 1969, Tuskegee Institute bestowed her highest honor for alumni, the Alumni Merit Award, upon him, in recognition of his contributions to society. An elder in Westminster Presbyterian Church, where he is the Clerk of Session, Mr. Woodson holds membership in Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, the American Alumni Council, the Tuskegee Civic Association, the N.A.A.C.P., and Phi Alpha Theta -History Honor Society.

DOROTHY M. WOODSON

Dorothy M. Woodson is a native of Ashville, North Carolina where she completed her elementary and high school training. She received both Bachelor of Science and Masters of Education degrees in Elementary Education from Tuskegee Institute and later did further study in Counseling and Guidance at her Alma Mater and Indiana University.

She worked for the federal government as a supervisor with "Awards and Decorations" in the War Department and later taught school in the states of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Before changing her vocational interest she was a sixth grade teacher at An American Missionary Association school in Macon County, Alabama, At this school she was cited for her community work and twice chosen as "teacher of the year".

She is a member of the following professional, civic and social organizations:

American Personnel and Guidance Association American College Personnel

American Conege r ersonner Association (where she was appointed to serve on Commission III which deals with residence hall programs and serves as liaison person for the Association of Non-White Concerns) American Association of University Women Tuskegee Civic Association (life member) Westminister Presbyterian Church (member and deacon) Alabama Council of Student Personnel Workers

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority

She and husband, James, met during her freshman year at Tuskegee and are proud parents of son, James, Jr.

Presently she is Director of Residence Life and Development for Women — Tuskegee Institute.

A FOREWORD

Before you proceed any further A moment we ask you to stay, And give undivided attention, To a few words we have to say.

This book that you read at leisure, Has meant many hours of work, And 'though we know that 'tis not perfect, It's not because anyone shirked.

Don't critically look at its pages, And notice every mistake, They're not very bad ones, I'm sure, But those anyone might make.

We know we're none of us Rembrandts. A Longfellow, Dickens, or Hood, But we're just plain Tuskegee students

And we did the best we could. Those who have gone before us

We do not try to surpass, But carry on what they started, And be as renowned a class.

This book that you are reading, Was not made for a work of art, But simply to portray school life, From which our Class will soon part.

We want it to be a reminder, To us. and those gone before, And if it is this, in years to come, We could not have wished for more.

We'll detain you no longer, dear Reader, For now our hopes you see through, So here's hoping our book you'll enjoy, And here's to the Class of '22.

Audrey Lee.

TUSKEGEE'S GREED

WE BELIEVE IN THE DIGNITY OF LABOR

"We shall prosper in proportions as we learn to dignify labor and put brains and skill into the common occupation of life."

WE BELIEVE IN DOING WHAT WE DO WELL

"The man who has learned to do something better than anyone else, has learned to do a common thing in an uncommon manner, is the man who has a power and influence that no adverse circumstances can take from him.

• WE BELIEVE IN THE POWER OF EDUCATION

"Ignorance is not a cure for anything." "There is no defense or security for any of us except in the highest intelligence and development of all."

WE BELIEVE IN THE LIFE OF SERVICE

The only thing worth living for is the lifting up of our fellowmen" . . . "The greatest thing you can learn is the lesson of brotherly love, of usefulness, and of charity."

WE BELIEVE IN THE SPIRIT OF COOPERATION BETWEEN ALL INDIVIDUALS AND GROUPS

"Cast down your bucket where you are. Cast it down in making friends, in every honorable way, of the people of all races by whom you are surrounded."

• WE BELIEVE IN FITTING ALL MEN TO EXERCISE THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

"It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges" . . . "Let the very best educational opportunities be provided for both races, and add to this the enactment of an election law that shall be incapable of unjust discrimination, at the same time providing that in proportion as the ignorant secure education, property and character, they will be given the rights of citizenship."*

*Quotations from Up From Slavery; Julia P. Skinner, One Hundred Selected Sayings of Booker T. Washington, and Scott and Stowe, Booker T. Washington, Builder of a Civilization.

Tuskegee Institute

I am only one. But still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something; and because I cannot do everything, I will not refuse to do the something I can do.

We Shall Prosper in Proportion as We learn to Dignify and Glorify Labor and put Brains and Skill into the Common Occupations of Life

No one can in anyway permanently hold back a race of people who are getting those elements of strength which the world recognizes, which the world has always recognized, as indicating the highest type of manhood and womanhood.

There is no defense or security for any of us except in the highest intelligence and development of all.

I believe that any man's life will be filled with constant and unexpected encouragements if he makes up his mind to do his level best each day of his life—that is, tries to make each day reach as nearly as possible the highest mark of pure, unselfish, useful living.

A Historical Perspective

This school was not built for the faculty. These buildings, this equipment, and these grounds would not be here save that they are tools in the accomplishment of an important and absolutely necessary object. The faculty, buildings and equipment are necessary, but it is the student body that is the important thing. Dr. Washington came the important thing. Dr. Washington came here forty odd years ago, for you. He did not come for himself. He gave up many things to come down here to this barren plateau in the midst of misunderstandings, suspicion and prejudice—prejudice not only of white people, but of colored people as well,—and in some ways the prejudice of his own race was more trying and more intense than that of the white. He came to Tuskegee for the boys and girls, for men and women, whom he might, perchance, under God, be able to help and influence for good. (September 14, 1924)

TO: THE CLASS OF 1974

Hearty congratulations to each of you as you graduate from Tuskegee Institute in the Class of 1971. Our best wishes go with you for every success in whatever you undertake.

Aside from your training here, which surely will provide a hase for success in your chosen careers, we hope you have caught the spirit of this place-the spirit of service, the spirit of humaneness, the spirit of hope and of involvement to make this a better world for us all.

The true task of education, according to Bertrand Russell, for true task of education, according to Bertrand Russell, for "To give a sense of value of things other than domination, to help create wise citizens of a free community, and through the combination of citizenship with liberty in individual creativeness, to enable men to give a human life that splendor which some few have shown that it can achieve." We try to reach this goal at Tuskegee Institute, and any success we have will be vertexer you are.

You join thousands of Tuskegee alumni who are serving with distinction throughout this country and abroad. We know you will continue this fine tradition, and we will take great pride in your accmplishments. Please keep in touch with your Alma Nater-we will welcome your suggestions about further advancements in our while we durational programs and services. We will need your support to continue the viability of our work at Tuskegee.

Sincerely yours, 177276 L. H. Foster President

We know you will remember that the judgment which society continually makes of Tuskegee is, in the largest measure, based on alumni achievements. We are confident of your ability to succeed and to contribute richly to our society.

Human Resources Development Center

From The Director's Desk

Social and economic problems have not had the attention of the society, and particularly, the institutions that could possibly have done something about them before the 1960's. A decade is a short time in which to change entrenched traditions, especially if new models of operation must be developed. In many instances, rural as well as urban problems have defied the expertise of most well meaning practitioners and theoreticians. This being the case, much of our effort in the Human Resources Development Center is directed toward developing a demonstratable model that can be accepted and adopted in treating social and economic ills. We have assumed that established institutions are sufficiently flexible and committed to adjust their operational styles, add new dimensions to their original objectives, and will eventually face up to the challenges concomitant with the new demand of this period.

Pre-service training sessions are conducted because the under-educated adults who are the participants in ABE pro-grams require an effective instructional staff if they are to persist and learn.

Several in-service training workshops are conducted throughout the year to give the ABE staff a broader perspective in working with participants.

Over the years, Tuskegee Institute has had a distinguished history of involvement in organized social research and data compilation through the Rural Life Council, the Department of Records and Research, and the Office of the Director of Research. In September 1967, the research activities of the Carver Research Foundation were expanded to include the Division of Behavioral Science Research. This inclusion made it possible for faculty and students in academic units other than the natural sciences to engage in research activities on the same basis as those in the natural sciences.

The focus of research in the Division includes race relations; problems related to rural development, poverty and its alleviation; migration; adoption and divorce; and more recently, historical research.

The Alabama Center for Higher Education Statewide Oral History Project is coordinated by the Division of Behavioral Science Research. It is a cooperative project carried out by the eight black senior colleges in Alabama. The Oral History Project is designed to prevent the loss of valuable historical information current in the black communities of Alabama through the tape recording and preservation of the experiences and historical involvements of black Alabamians.

Center For Rural Development Research

On July 1,1972, the Center for Rural Development Research became a part of the Division of Behavioral Science Research. The Center was begun in 1971 as a regional center for the promotion, facilitation and coordination of rural development research in the behavioral sciences among the land grant colleges in the Southeast Region of the United States. Dr. Lewis W. Jones, Research Associate in the Division has been appointed Director of the Center. As the Center moves to meet the challenges presently faced in rural America, its roles as a coordinating and research unit dealing with the problems of rural life in America will allow it to make a major contribution to our Region and the Nation.

The Division of Auxiliary Enterprises

The area of auxiliary enterprises represents the multitude of support agencies that are essential to the effective functioning of the academic program. Areas that comprise this division include: Institute Bookstore, Institute Laundry, Institute Press, Dorothy Hall Food Service, Dorothy Hall Guest House, Snack Bar, Housing Department, Central Transportation, Married Student Housing, Staff Housing, Mail Service, Switchboard, and the Office of Housing Coordination.

Wright L. Lassiter, Jr. Director, Auxiliary Enterprises

The Tuskegee Institute Food Service Department is headed by Mr. G. N. Ivy. Mr. Ivy has been associated with the Institute Food Service Department for more than tewnty-five years; beginning in the Storeroom and being promoted through various levels until he achieved the directorship following the retirement of Mr. E. J. Bass.

This department is one of the largest of the Auxiliary Enterprises. In addition to the main cafeteria in Thompkins Hall, this department also consists of the Dorothy Hall Food Service.

The unit endeavors to adequately support the instructional program through the provision of primary food service, and also by providing a variety of catering services to student organizations, departments and employees of the institute.

Head Start

We Walk Through A Dimension Of Time

And Time Seems To Slip By...

But before we realize it...

And we wonder what way to go...

or what direction to take?

I believe that what we have in this country was not the contribution of any single race or group. This nation is truly the combined contribution of all of those who reside in it. We therefore have a blended culture and a contribution which represents the participation of all these groups. If this participation has not been equal, this has been largely because non-white groups have been denied a full and equal opportunity to make their full contribution. Much of the Negro's contribution has thus been obliterated, covered up, or submerged. But the fact is that the building of this nation includes this contribution and therefore entitles Negro Americans to their share of the nation's resources. And we don't need to go off in a corner, for blacks only, to get it!

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE: 1974!

The role of Tuskegee must be shaped by two sets of forces. There is the immediacy of the environment, including the strengths of the past, the resources of the present and the opportunities of the foreseeable future.

future. We are, and must be, realistic—never pessimistic—about the facts of our educational life here. We try to assess both latent and overt talent, discover the barriers to fulfillment, and teach to make it come alive. But first, we must identify every limitation and every strength in our students and in ourselves as a basis for effective education.

ROTC

The Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) is the largest source of commissioned officers and will continue to be for many years. West Point and Officer Candidate School are important sources too, but compared to ROTC their productions are small. Our responsibility as citizens is to insure that this country is ready to protect and defend should the need arise for a military force. We cannot theorize as to what form the challenge will take, but it is extremely important that we be prepared.

We must unite to achieve a common goal. That goal is a strong Army. To accomplish the goal the Officer Corps must be representative of our nation as a whole. It must consist of black men and women that understand the feelings and factors which motivate black soldiers. There is a need for black officers in all ranks, from lieutenant to four star general. There are some black officers in positions of authority, but we don't have enough of them. Why don't you take a look and accept this challenge through Army ROTC. Historically, the education of teachers and school personal has Historically, the education of teachers and school personal has been a major responsibility of Tuskegee Institute since its founding. On July 4, 1881, Booker T. Washington opened Tuskegee enrolling 30 students for the training of Negro teachers. Teacher-training programs at Tuskegee have over the years produced a substantial number of teachers who have served the profession well in every region of this country and abroad. The School of Education is the academic unit of Tuskegee Institute responsible for preparing professional school personal. All its programs are State approved for state certification, and are in conformance with the standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Reading Clinic

Professor: Dr. A. M. S. Rao, Director Instructors: Mrs. F. F. Williams, Mrs. E. E. Geeter, Mrs. A. Hamilton, Mrs. E. P. Cyrus

The Reading Clinic is one of several units of the College of Arts and Sciences and serves as a laboratory to the Graduate Reading Program in the School of Education. Presently the instructional staff includes a professional educational psychologist as director, four full-time instructors, and three teaching assistants. who are candidates for Master of Arts Degree in Reading.

The primary service function consists of a semester long, onecredit course designed for students having difficulties in reading and learning skills necessary for a successful college level performance. These skills are related to communication, listening, comprehension study, note-taking, test-taking, vocabulary development, spelling, and the like.

Each freshman student who does not make the option level in the Placement Test is required to enroll in Reading Improvement course 101/102 during the first semester of his admission to Tuskegee Institute. Those placed in the option category and upper class students will profit from a semester study at the Clinic to the extent that they understand improved methods of reading and learning.

All students receive a thorough diagnosis of their reading and learning problems, and individual aid is provided through intensive counseling and instruction. An extensive selection of films, filmstrips, and programmed learning materials are maintained. A complete learning center including a 48-position reading laboratory is used during the instructional stage.

The Reading Clinic serves as a training ground for graduate students in Reading and offers them laboratory facilities and opportunities for supervised practicum experience in psychological analysis and treatment of reading deficiences.

"Friendship is essential to the soul." These words are of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated. This year the men of Omega participated in many campus and community activities which lend to the validity of the organization's motto. Omega Psi Phi was founded 63 years ago on the Howard University campus. It was on November 17, 1911 that Edgar Love, Frnest Just, Oscar Cooper, and Frank Coleman hailed the qualities of manhood, scholarship, perserverance, and uplift as the cardinal principles of the organization. The brothers of Lambda Epsilon Chapter are trying to show through their work that they will never relent in their quest of exemplifying their motto.

ARCHIVE OF THE BLUE CREW

January 9, 1974 marked the 60th Anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc, was founded at Howard University, Washington, D. C. January 9, 1914, by A. Langston Taylor, Charles I. Brown, and Leonard F. Morse. These three men felt the need of a Greek-letter college fraternity embracing the principles of brotherhood, scholarship, and service which are crystallized and expressed in the fraternity's motto, "Culture for Service and Service to Humanity."

The organization is inter-racial in nature with over 40,000 members operating throughout 200 undergraduate and graduate chapters located on college campuses, cities, and urban centers in the United States, the Virgin Islands, Switzerland, and the continent of Africa. The fraternity sponsors three major programs: Bigger and Better Business, Social Action, and Education.

Beta Kappa Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., was chartered at Tuskegee Institute in 1948.

"GOLDEN VOICES" VISIT 7 SAC BASES From Maine to Michigan, from North Dakota to Montana, the TI Choir spread joy for 7 days during the Annual Spring Tour. Under the sponsorship of the SAC Commanders and Chaplain (Col) Wm. J. King, thirteen concerts were given for the personnel and their families. In return the choir received several plaques, ribbons, an induction into a Missile Wing, and to top it all off, the kind of reception given to royalty. Every day meant — eat, sleep, eat, sing, eat, sing, and PARTY!! A good time was had by all.

There are more informed young people in the world of the '70's than in any other time in history. We have the opportunity to shape the world into something more acceptable to those who shall soon be calling us "the past generation". Can we accept that challenge?

The Age of Aesculapius.

As a graduating senior, this insignia will soon be your insignia. Display it proudly. While only recently adopted, it represents a noble calling with a proud past. It stands for lofty ideals and for highest standards of professionalism.

As a leading manufacturer of ethical products for your practice, we at Fort Dodge Laboratories subscribe fully to all the Staff of Aesculapius stands for. In the era ahead, you can continue to look to Fort Dodge for highest standards of modern veterinary medicine, as veterinarians have done for over a half century. Because we serve graduate veterinarians only. No one else.

"I've been in the Navy just 18 months and I'm a practicing defense attorney and in Legal Assistance. The experience I've had in the Navy is invaluable so early in my career. It's the kind of experience that could otherwise take years.'

These are the feelings of LT Trevor Bryan, a

1971 law school graduate. "I was interested in the Navy Judge Advocate General Corps because of the opportunity it offered. I joined the Navy following my second year in law school and used the Excess Leave Program to finish. It wasn't long after I received my commission that I was working in a courtroom . . . exactly where I wanted to be."

wanted to be." Before practicing law in the Navy, LT Bryan was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and while draw-ing full pay and allowances of $838.68 per month, completed an intensive nine-week course in Military Justice at the Naval Justice School in Newport, Rhode Island. "Right now, my income compares favorably with that de acivilian lawyer starting out in most areas of that of a civilian lawyer starting out in most areas of the country. Add to that all the Navy benefits!" "I know of no other place that offers so much to a new attorney, as the Navy JAG Corps. You get ex-perience in both civilian and military courts. It's a great opportunity!'

This same opportunity is open to you if you qual-ify. And there's no need to delay your career. You are eligible to apply as a college senior or in any year of law school. Whether your area of interest is Maritime Law, International Law, Civil Law or others, the Navy has a practice for you . . . around the world. If you think you've got what it takes to become a Navy Judge Advocate General, call, toll free 24 hours day: 800-841-8000

The 1974 Tuskeana is an attempt to give a leadway into the apathy felt at and about Tuskegee by its students. It is also an attempt to raise the level of consciousness among the students, faculty and administration about where we came from, where we are today, and our hopes for the future.

Above all else, we have geared this year's book toward DIRECTION. It reveals how previous students acquired an academic education and left a worthwhile contribution to the school by the buildings they built and the examples set by all levels of achievement.

This book links Tuskegee Institute not only with the past accomplishments of its students and faculty, but lays the groundwork for the precedence of its present and future students as to what hour their contribution will be made. My last appeal to the Tuskegee family is "Open up your mind — Reach out and touch somebody's hand — Make 'Skegee a better place if you can."
