Student Life

We are always active. From Homecoming to the Florida A&M game we are constantly on the move. That's why....

We Know You've Seen Us!

Monday through Friday the yard is always crowded at noon. It is a time to talk about classes and gossip.

College Media Convention

The 19th Annual College Media Convention was held in New York City from March 19-22. Workshops, seminars, and short courses were held for staff members, editors, and managers of college newspapers, yearbooks, magazines, radio and television stations.

Minnie Austin, Marsha Conners, newspaper editor, and Allison Foster, yearbook editor, left for New York on Tuesday March 18. They attended seminars in writing, layout, and design. Marsha and Allison attended roundtables where they shared concerns, and ideas for better yearbooks and newspapers with other editors.

New York wasn't all business. Marsha and Allison ate at several different restaurants and Minnie Austin attended a Broadway play.

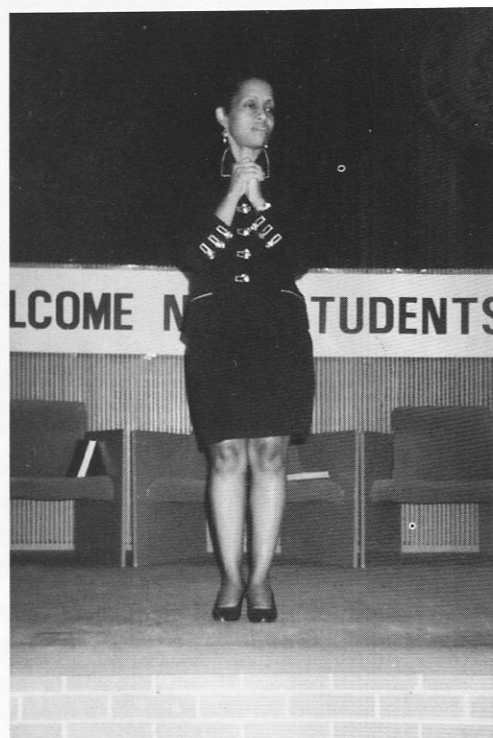

They all left New York with ideas for improvements. Unfortunately, all the adventure didn't stay in New York because all three learned that Atlanta's Airport really is not small when they got separated. Nonetheless, they made it home safely and ready to take their new ideas to their staffs.

Marsha Conners came in to rest between a copy session and a yearbook ethics session.

Air view of the Marriot Marque on Broadway.

The freshmen talent show included talents such as singing, dancing, and even modeling.

Extra advice is always welcome as a prominent judge from Atlanta gives a stirring and motivational speech in the chapel for freshmen orientation week.

A new twist is put on Cinderella's evil sisters as a first year student does her rendition of the classic fairy tale at the freshmen talent show in the Student Union Ballroom.

A Week For Freshmen

Freshmen orientation week was full of exciting events to welcome the class of 2000. The students and their parents arrived on Saturday, August 24 for an assembly that included a skit by the orientation leaders. Following the assembly, students and parents were invited to Grey Columns for lunch with President Payton.

During the week, incoming freshmen were introduced to their new environment through seminars about academic procedures, spirit sessions on the Ave with the orientation leaders, and parties that students off campus threw.

However, on Tuesday, August 27, all the fun was halted during the day because freshmen advisement began at 9:00 A.M. Freshmen soon became acquainted with procedures of pre-registration, and hours of waiting in line in order for their classes to be entered into the computer system.

Fortunately, by Friday, August 30, the majority of The Class of 2000 was settled in their new home. Resident assistants made them welcome by presenting a series of skits on being away from home. And finally, students said goodbye to their parents in a chapel worship service held on Sunday.

After the talent show was over all the participants took one final bow.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

President Payton, Lionel Ritchie, and a newly elected mayor of the City of Tuskegee Ronald Williams pose for a picture before the start of the homecoming day parade.

The Vibe host awaits an answer from a student in the music history game show held on the Ave on Wednesday, November 6 at 3:00 P.M. Since all the participants guessed wrong, the DJ played another sample of a song.

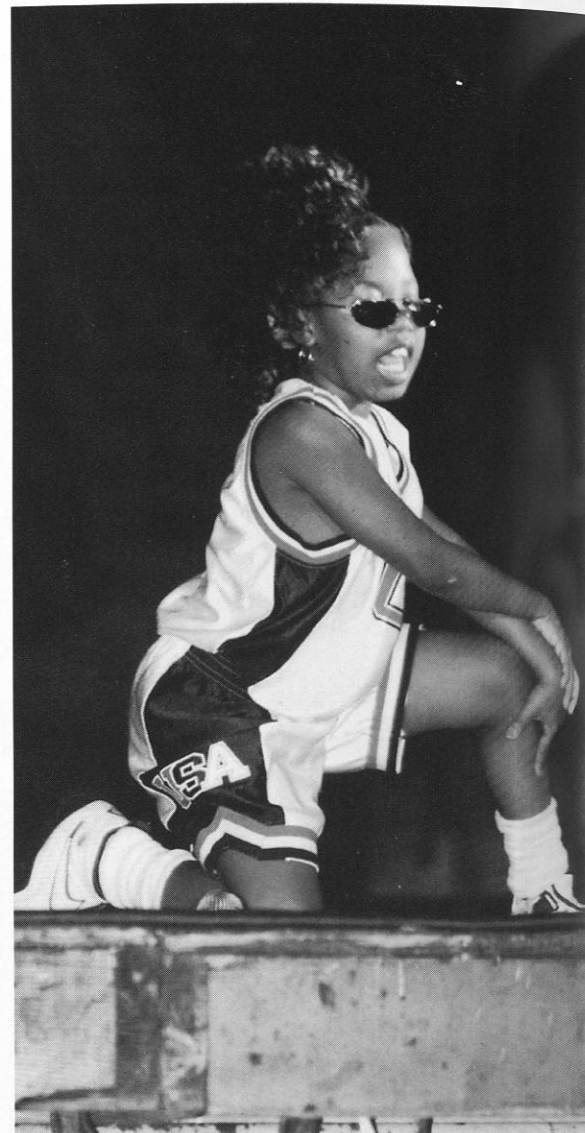

After lip sinc participant, Felicia, finishes her song with Rodney she listens to the next students rap. Lip sinc contests were just one of the three activities happening on the Ave during homecoming week. Students could also win prizes from 1-800-Collect and receive samples from Sprite.

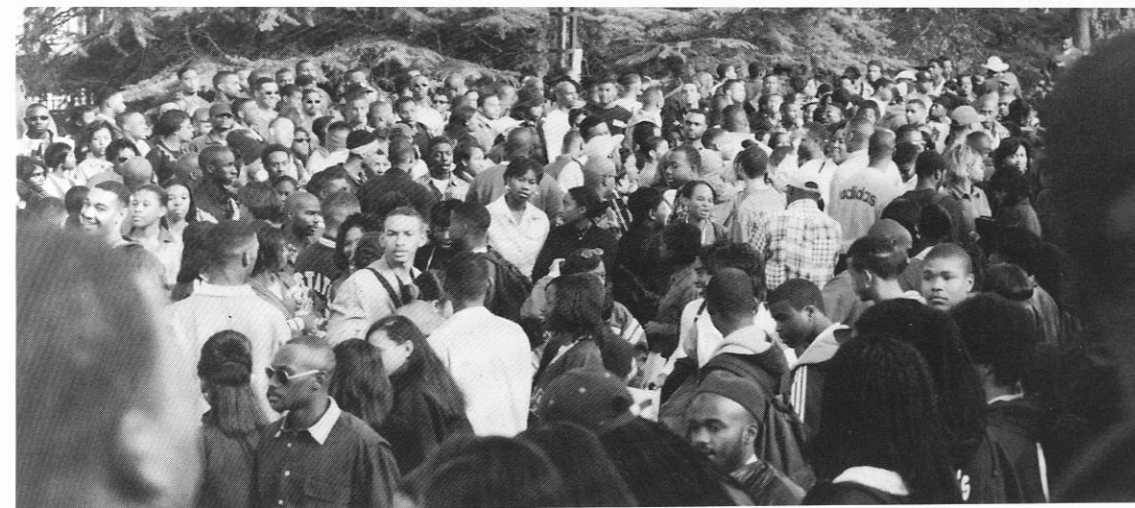

One of the VIBE DJ's shows off his skills at noon on the Ave.

Kids have talent too. Not just another act at the comedy jam, three children dance and lip sinc.

Comedian Bruce Bruce entertains the audience at the comedy jam/step show on Saturday, November 9, in the Chappie James Arena.

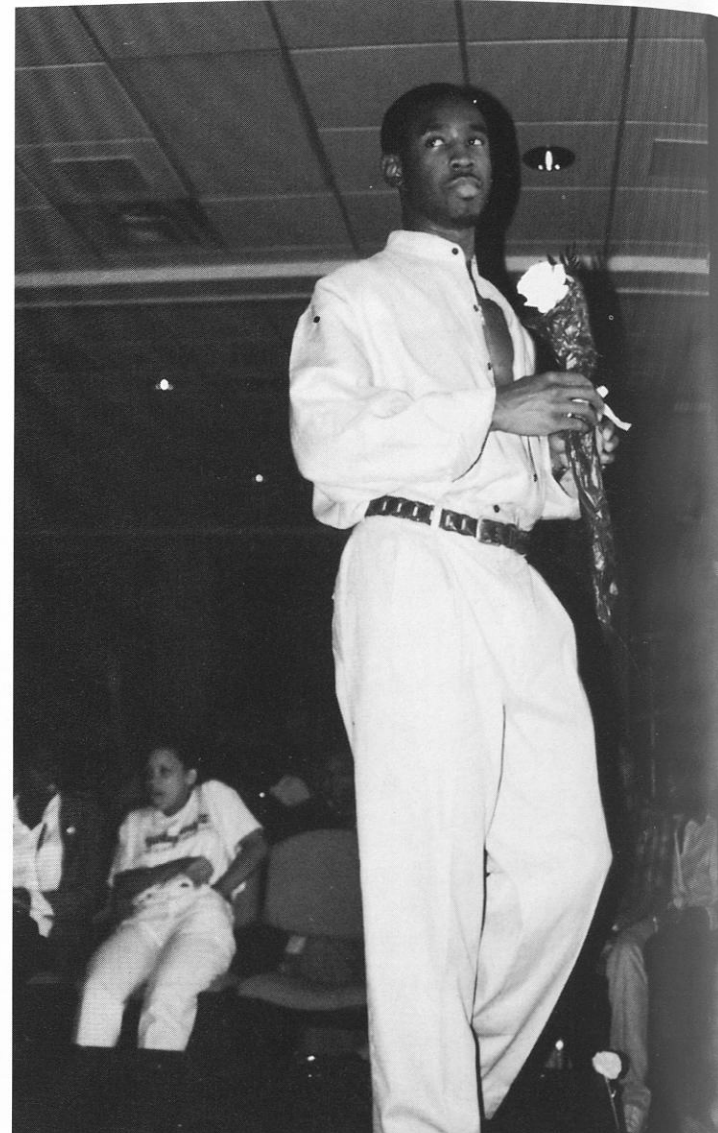

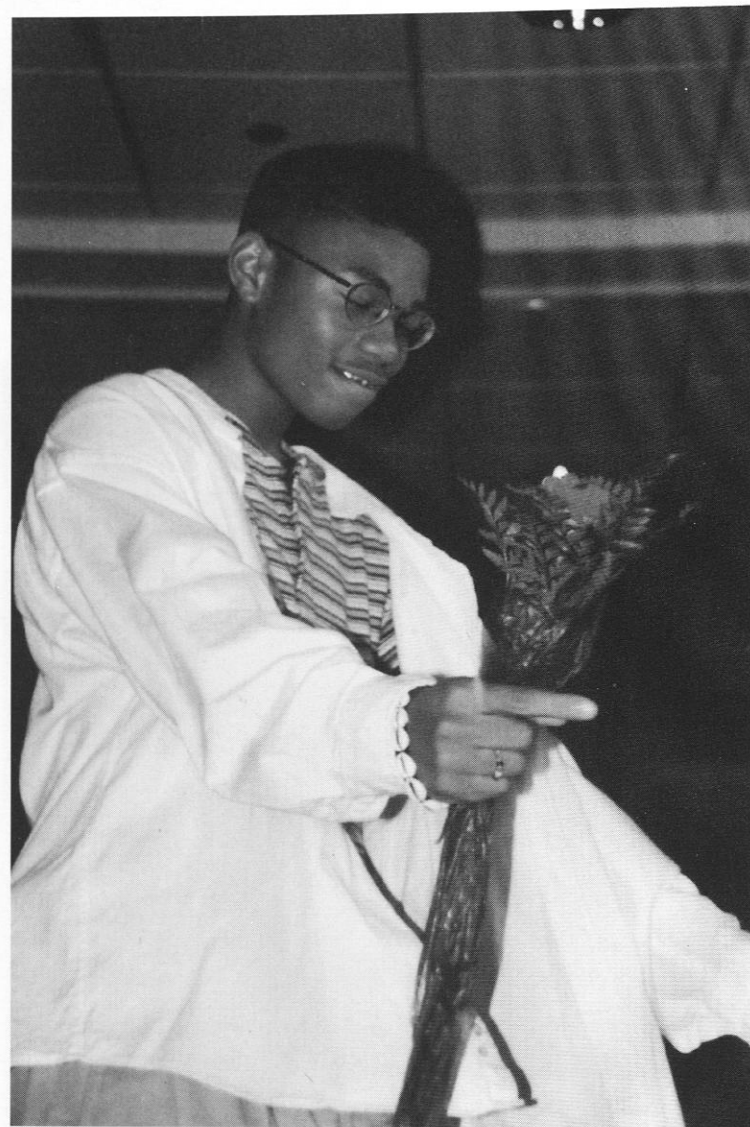

While Monifa sings she invites a student on stage to dance with her. And following her performance Outkast comes on stage and enthral the audience with songs such as Jazzy Belle and Southernplayalisticadillacmuzik.

Students and alumni crowd the Ave after the pep rally on Friday, November 8. The Ave, however, was deserted by 6:30 P.M. because the homecoming concert began at 7:00 P.M.

The Shows

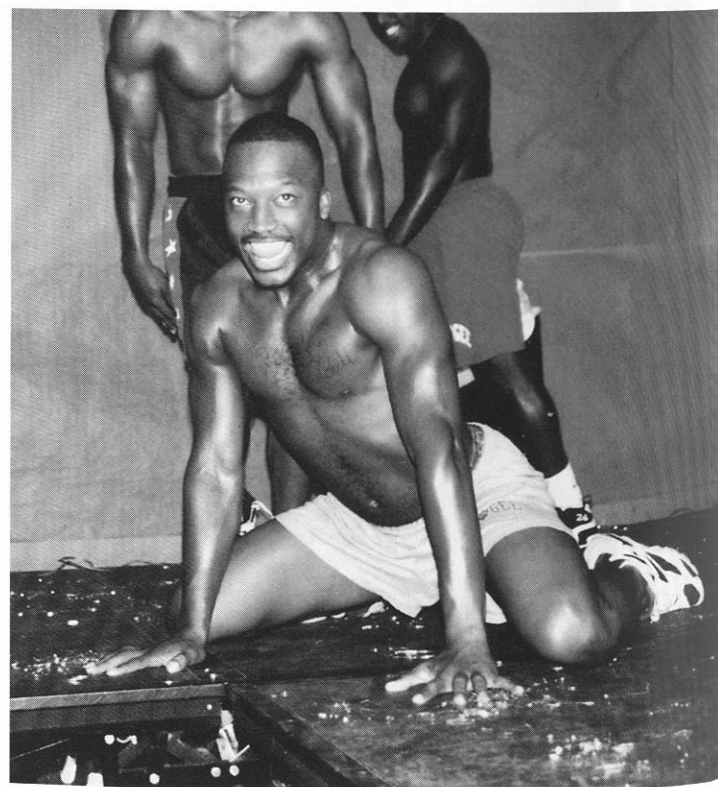

Going Once, Going Twice, Sold

When talent shows, parties, and selling food does not work, students sold themselves. Auctions were a way to raise money and for males and females to have dates with beautiful and intelligent people. Auctions were held by the Society of Women Engineers (SWE) in the Student Union Ballroom and the Bohemian students in Logan Hall.

Some males will do anything for a lady. And a freshman student proved that he did not have two left feet at the Society of Women Engineers auction.

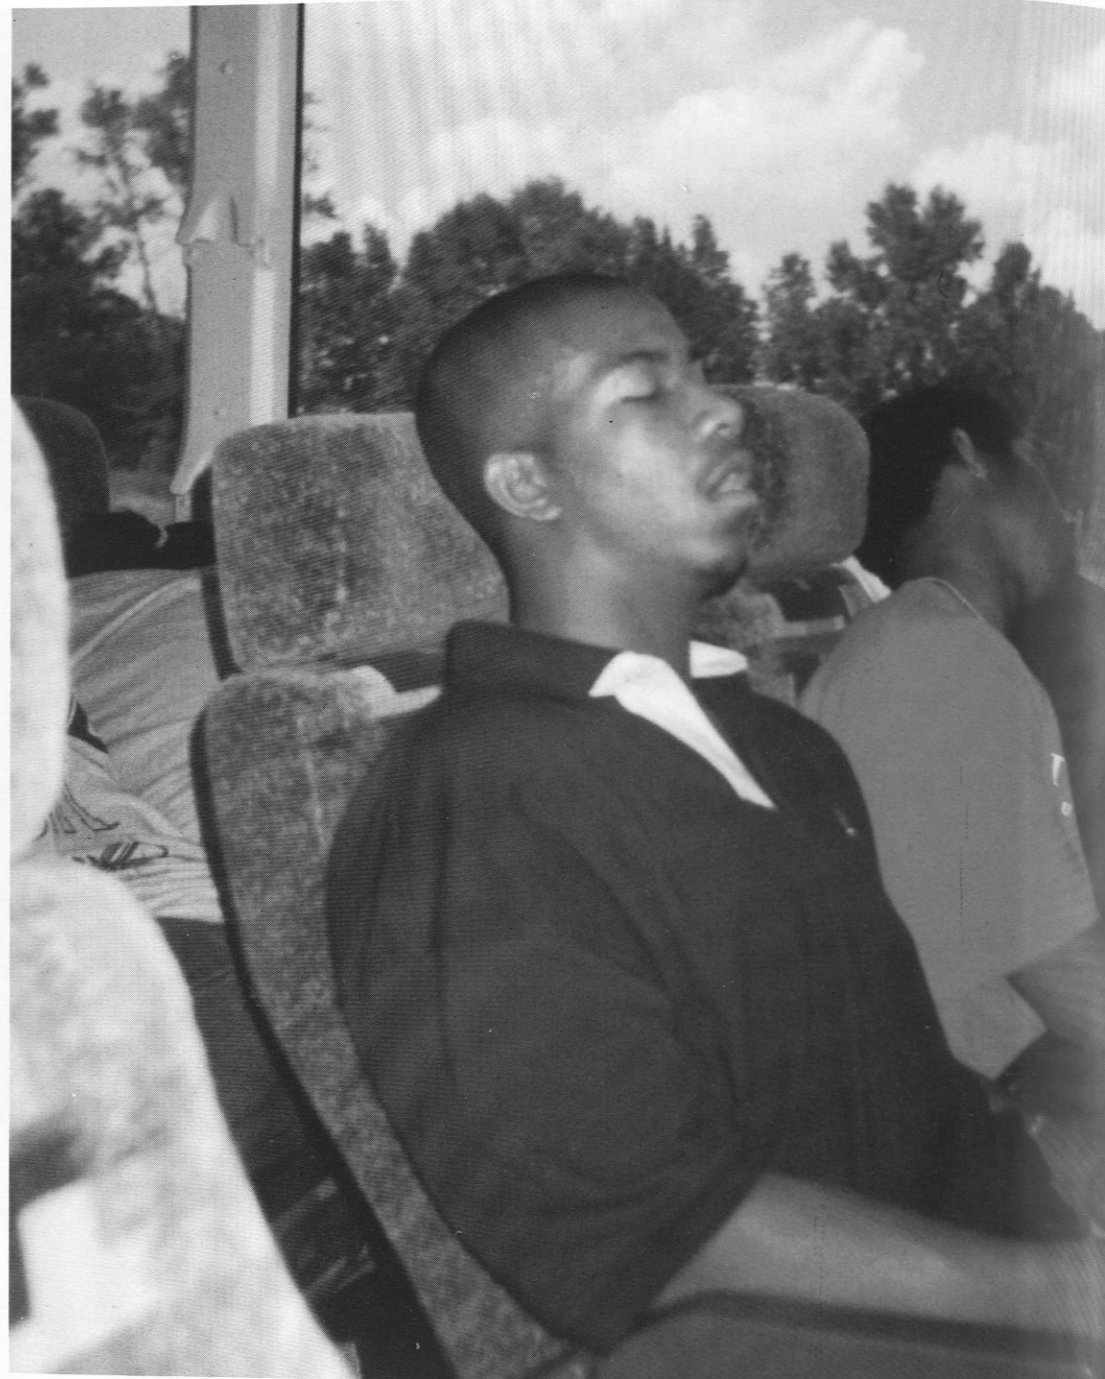

A little old fashion romance was used at the SWE auction in the Student Union Ballroom.

Putting on a show came natural for a student at the SWE auction.

The Shows

The four hour ride to Tallahassee, Florida was too long for one freshman. He nearly slept the entire way, but the singing of the other students on the bus woke him.

As soon as the buses unloaded, three Tallahassee children entertained the students and faculty.

A Four Hour Trip

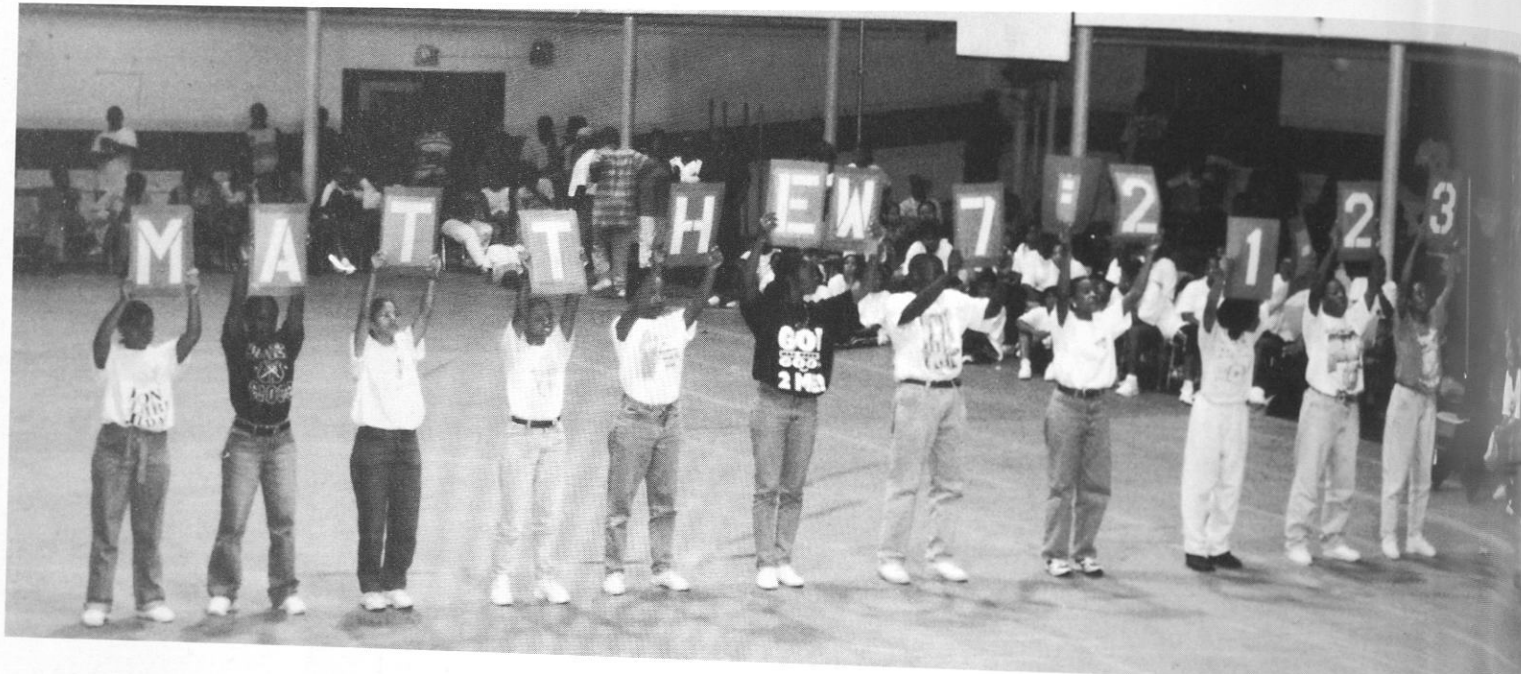

School spirit was the goal of the Student Government Association's planning of a trip to Tallahassee, Florida on Saturday, September 7 for the Florida A&M football game. Two bus loads of students, faculty, and staff left early that morning on a four hour trip.

Upon arrival in Tallahassee, SGA, Miss Tuskegee, Natalie Williams, and other students were welcomed by the Florida A&M SGA with a reception on their campus. SGA president, Foster Ware was presented with a plaque of appreciation from the Florida students' SGA.

Unfortunately, after the reception there were a couple of hours to spare before the game. Students spent their time wandering around the A&M campus and talking with the students there.

Finally, the game began that evening. However, the support from the students, cheerleaders, and the band were not enough to push the team to victory and we lost 0-56. The trip back home was quiet.

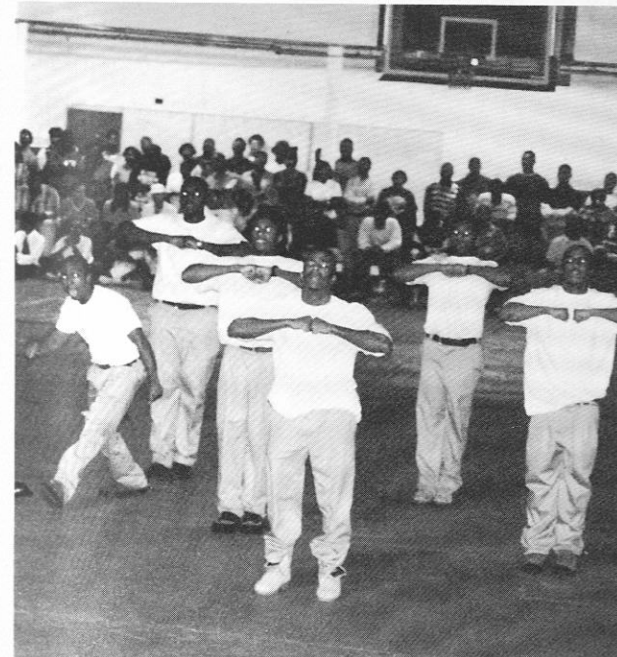

Dorm Step Show

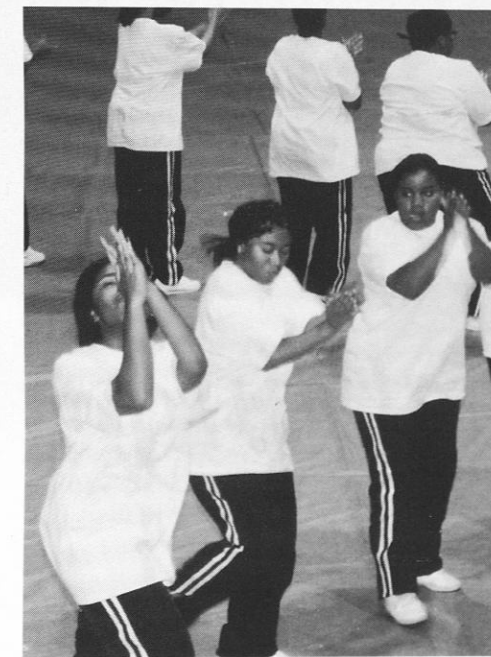

Christian Sisterhood gives the audience a little religious enlightenment at the step show.

Emery four performs.

The only male dorm that stepped was Bethune Hall. They also placed.

Olivia Davidson Hall stepped first and, unfortunately, did not place in the top three.

SPORTS

While we gained a new athletic director and five new coaches, we did not perform like it. Unfortunately, we needed....

New Coaches

When President Payton announced Coach Rick Comegy's appointment as Director of Athletics and head football coach he said, "We are confident we have a strong leader, coach and winner."

Coach Comegy has brought almost 20 years of coaching experience with him. He coached nine years at Central State University, three years at Millersville University, seven years at Colgate University, and two years at Cheney University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Coach Comegy graduated from Millersville University in 1976. He was a three year letterman and an all-conference defensive back. His senior year played at Millersville won him the Vince Lombardi Award and Millersville most valuable defensive player award. (Information provided by Game Day Journal.)

Rick Comegy finished his first season with five wins and six losses.

James Woody is a member of the Black College Coaches Association and the American Football Coaches Association.

THE AFTER LIFE

After graduation Seniors plan to move on to other places besides where they grow up or went to school. Co-op's and summer internships are very important, because they may provide you with a job after graduation. Everyone wants to make lots of money and have a family. Some seniors are just glad to relax for a while. Others plan to go on to graduate school and further their education. No matter where life's paths takes you, one thing is for sure, you have accomplished a very challenging task, and acquired something very valuable — A Tuskegee University Degree. By Kiendra Mitchell

Top Ten Things All Freshmen Should Know

10. Get to know the upperclassmen in your major, because the tests you take, they have already taken.
9. Be true to everybody because you never know who you will need in the next four, five, or six years.
8. Make sure you have a friend with a car because you can not walk everywhere in Tuskegee.
7. Do not trip on the steps going to the cafe because you will be embarrassed for life.
6. Remember the roaches here are larger than you, and when you see one do not run because it will chase you.
5. A personal computer is a good investment.
4. Always know the hours financial aid is open because the hours are always changing.
3. If you want all your classes, preregister on the first day.
2. Learn which professors are going to challenge you so you can take them.
1. Academics are first, then kickin' it. Not the other way around.

GOLDEN VOICES

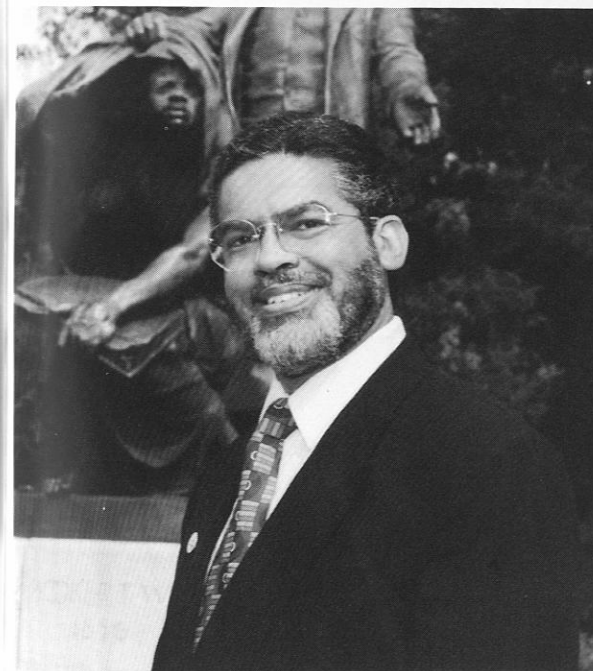

“They sang the songs that were born of a quest for freedom,” said Cincinnati Enquirer reporter Allen Howard. The Golden Voices Choir placed first at the Sixteenth Annual American Negro Spiritual Festival on Sunday, March 16 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

They sang “Ain-a That Good News”, “Steal Away”, and “Elijah Rock”. In the non-competitive part of the program they sang “Couldn’t Hear Nobody Pray”.

While the choir won first place, they also were judged the audience favorite. Howard also stated, “The choir drew frequent applause with its four part harmony and showmanship.” By: Alessandra Hayes

TUSKEANA

It was difficult being in charge. The position of editor carries several responsibilities, especially when the staff is limited to only a few. The few staff members, though, were helpful. Special thanks:

Johnny Hall, our yearbook representative, who was very patient and tried to understand all of our problems.

Herbert White and Shundreya George who listened to all my complaints and put up with all my attitudes.

Rory Stephens who helped me keep my sanity, especially during homecoming.

Ralph Pruitt who took over as photographer at the last minute.

Dean Spears and Minnie Austin for allowing me the opportunity to go to New York for the College Media Association Convention.

Academics

Academics was why we were here. And we spent nine months learning everything from educational psychology to advanced engineering mathematics. But it was ...

*More Than

One student takes time to look over her notes before her chemistry class begins. There might be a quiz.

Alternative Teaching

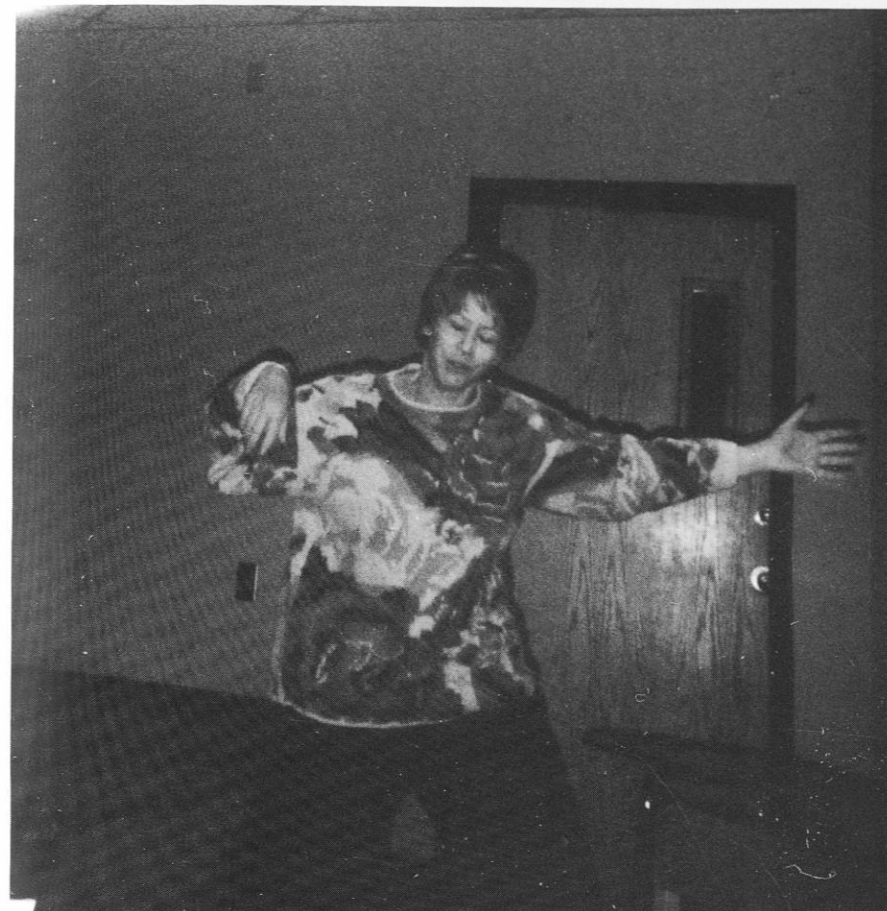

While lecturing may be the mainstream for teaching, some professors did things differently.

Dr. Cathy Winkler's 9:00 to 10:00 Social Problems class became a class about life and people. Dr. Winkler chose to share her life experiences. She taught what's not in the textbooks. The way to get ideas, for example, was unusual. "First she stood up and started reaching for the sky and she told us that's how to grab ideas," said Aisha Foster.

Dr. Alva Bailey, however, was not reaching for the sky literally, but she wanted her students to. Dr. Bailey let her students control the environment in her developmental psychology classes. Students called her teaching methods different. "In a way we are teaching the class and Dr. Bailey gives us examples of the ideas we learn so we can have a better understanding," said one of her former students.

Learning became common place in labs too. Hands on was more the key to learning. Whether dissecting or going to observations for nursing and occupational therapy, teaching was done by the doctors.

Consequently, no matter how we were taught we were always ready to learn.

Dr. Cathy Winkler using her unique teaching styles for her students.

In Dr. Bailey's class, students are into the class discussion.

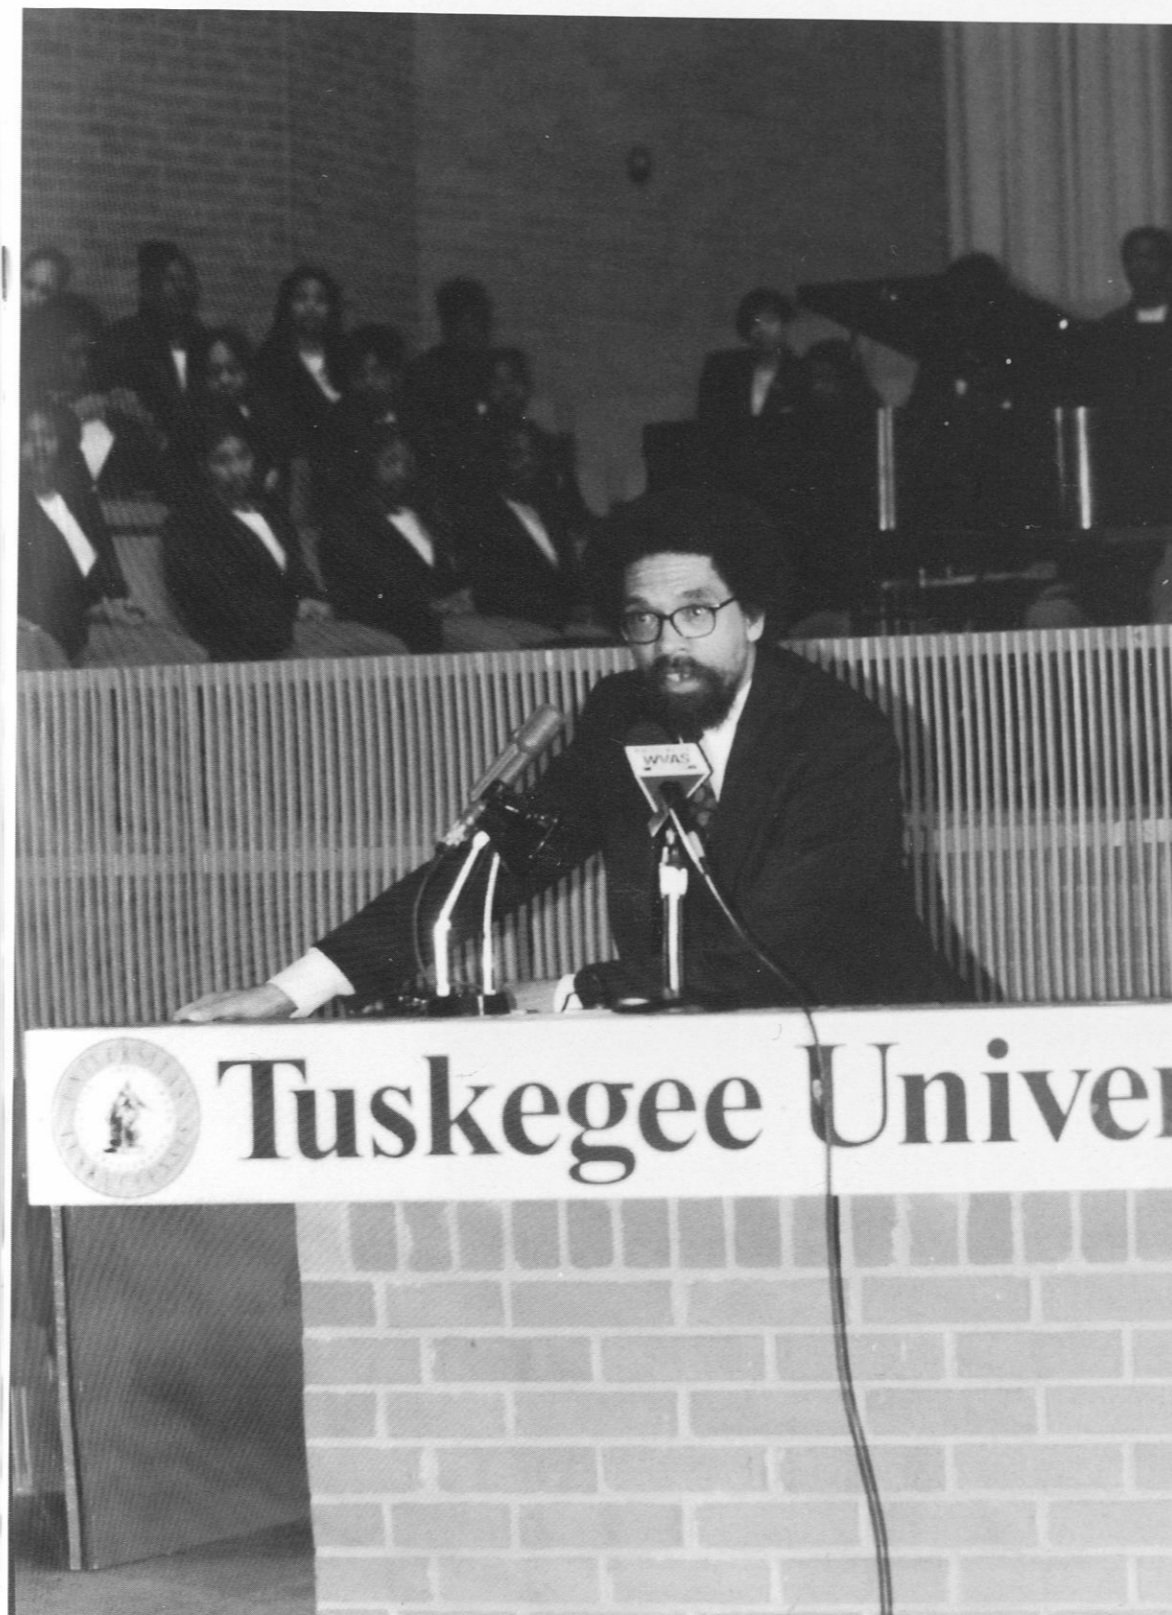

Ralph Ellison Lecture

Noted speaker and author, Dr. Cornel West, visited campus on Wednesday, January 22, as the keynote speaker for the annual Ralph Ellison Lecture.

As one of the featured speakers during the month of February, Dr. West addressed issues of racial pride and harmony. Utilizing Ellison's Invisible Man, he revealed the many facets of the invisibility of "the problem people" as quoted from DuBois.

Dr. West stated that there is a resistance against such an invisibility. Part of this resistance can be viewed in the naming of our children. As African-Americans, we give our children such names that create a visibility. Dr. West continued to address the impact of invisibility on children. There is no solidarity, only the "gansterization of culture." Everyone is intent on some way of getting over . . . by the marketing of the stimulation and titillation of our bodies."

Dr. Cornel West, Professor of Religion and Afro-American Studies at Harvard University, has published scholarly works including Race Matters. His lecture was sponsored by the Art and Lecture Series and the Department of English and Foreign Languages. By: Campus Digest Editor, Marsha Conner.

TO: The Tuskegee University Campus Community

We hope that each of you will enjoy this yearbook for many years as you share and reminisce about your experiences here and the importance of acquiring an education.

Throughout the years you have or will encounter many challenges which will prepare you for life's ups and downs. To you whose foresight and hard work has made this yearbook possible, we applaud your untiring efforts and magnificent accomplishment. What a thrill it must give you as you unitedly worked to carry out the mission of providing a splendid memoir for yourself, all students who are included, and those whose future has been shaped by the experiences provided at Tuskegee University to lead productive lives in this global society.

You have made notable contributions to the University while pursuing various academic goals. You are encouraged to always pursue careers of service to society and to remain active, life-long learners.

We hope you will continue to seek ways to enhance your lives by continuing to grow with a commitment to Alma Mater.

Sincerely,

Benjamin F. Payton

Student Leaders Meet

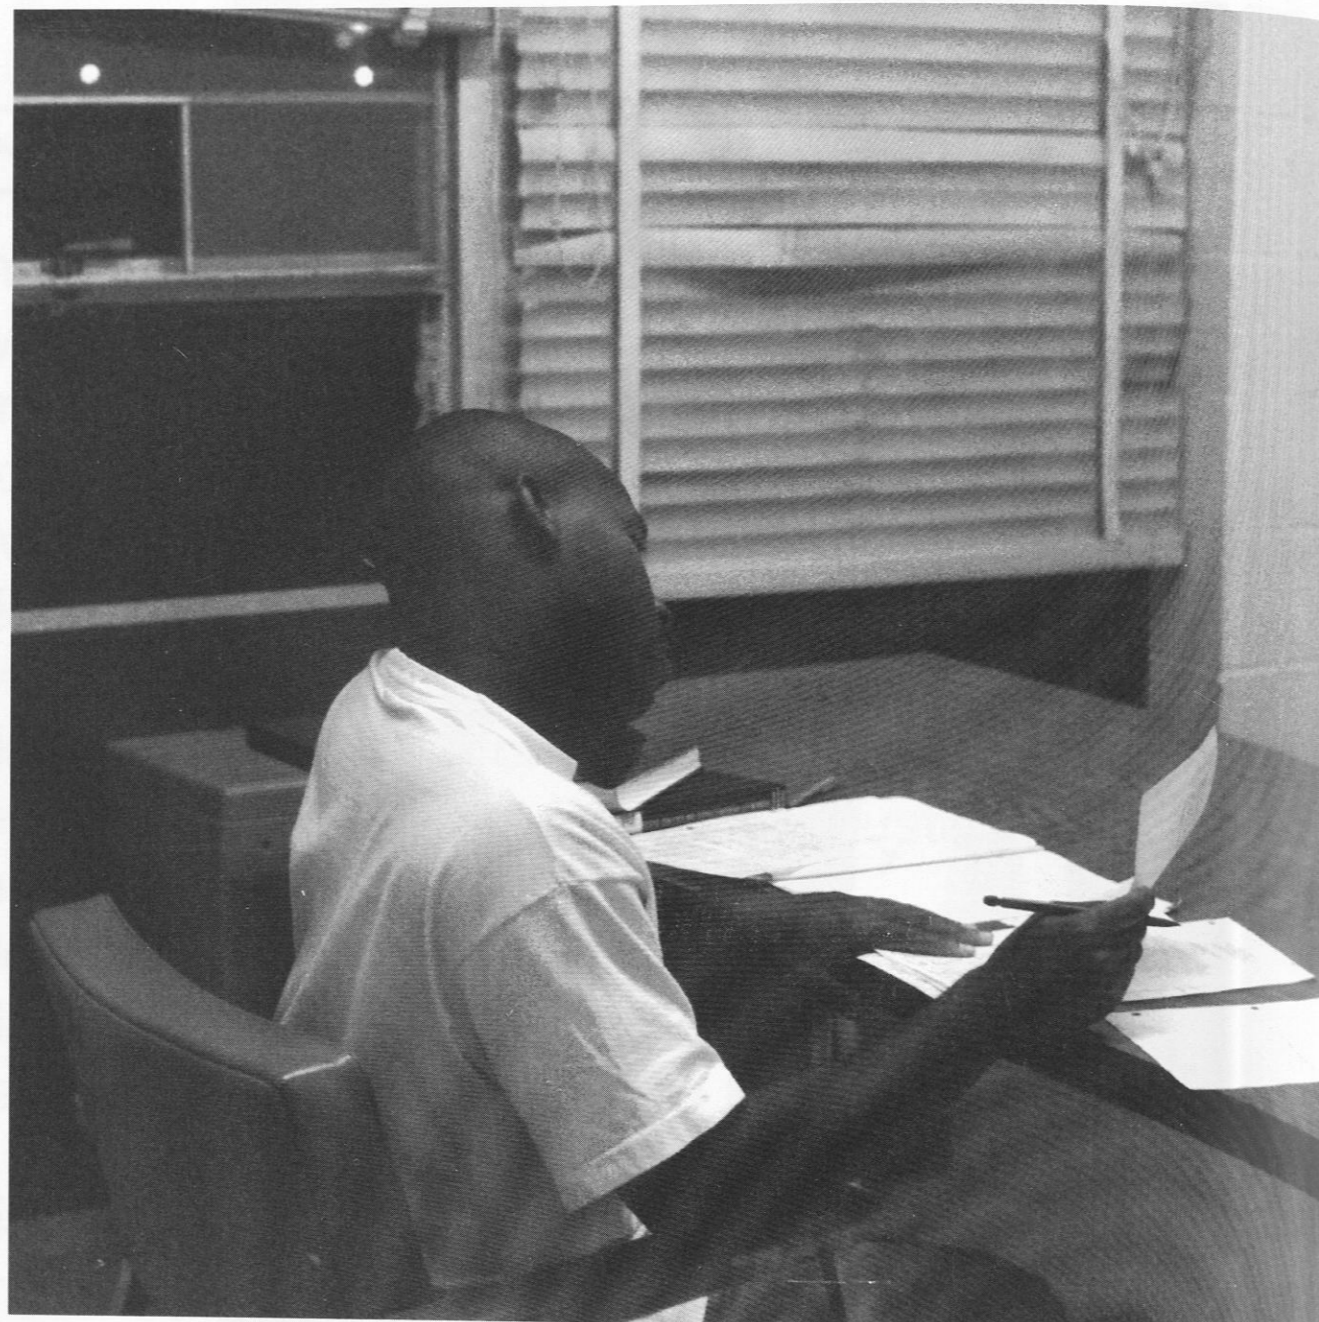

The meeting of the Student Officers' Council was held Tuesday, April 22 at 5:00 P.M. at Grey Columns. Student Government Association President Foster Ware reviewed the accomplishments of the year.

- * New computer lab in Moton Hall
- * Additional telephone trunk lines installed
- * Secured new on-campus apartments
- * Additional study day before final exams approved
- * Student representative on Board of Trustees approved
- * Homecoming more student oriented
- * Shuttle service implemented
- * Obtained approval of plans to install emergency telephones on campus

Also, introductions were made for the next year's Student Government Association members.

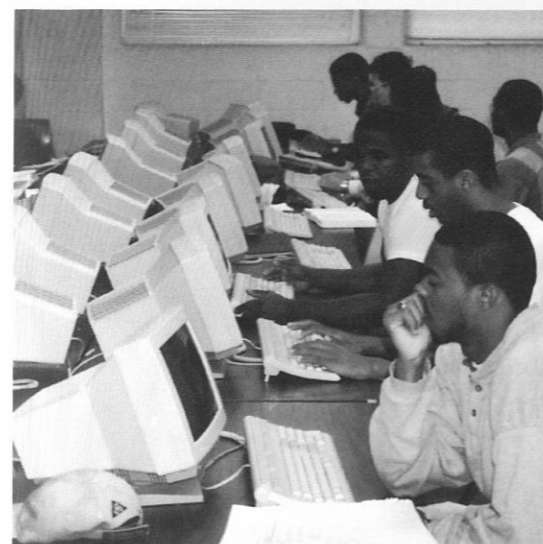

Executive Secretary, Linda Wiley.

In Young Hall's study room, a student organizes his notes for class the next day.

No Excuses, It's A Must

We do it in our dorms. We do it in the cafeteria. We do it in the Library. We even do it in our classrooms. What do we do? We study! Who said that one could only STUDY in Study Hall? "Studying a little every day is close to impossible for all students. I study when I can because I am so involved," Patrice George expressed. While some students expressions may be the same, KíEndra Mitchell declared, "All I do is study!"

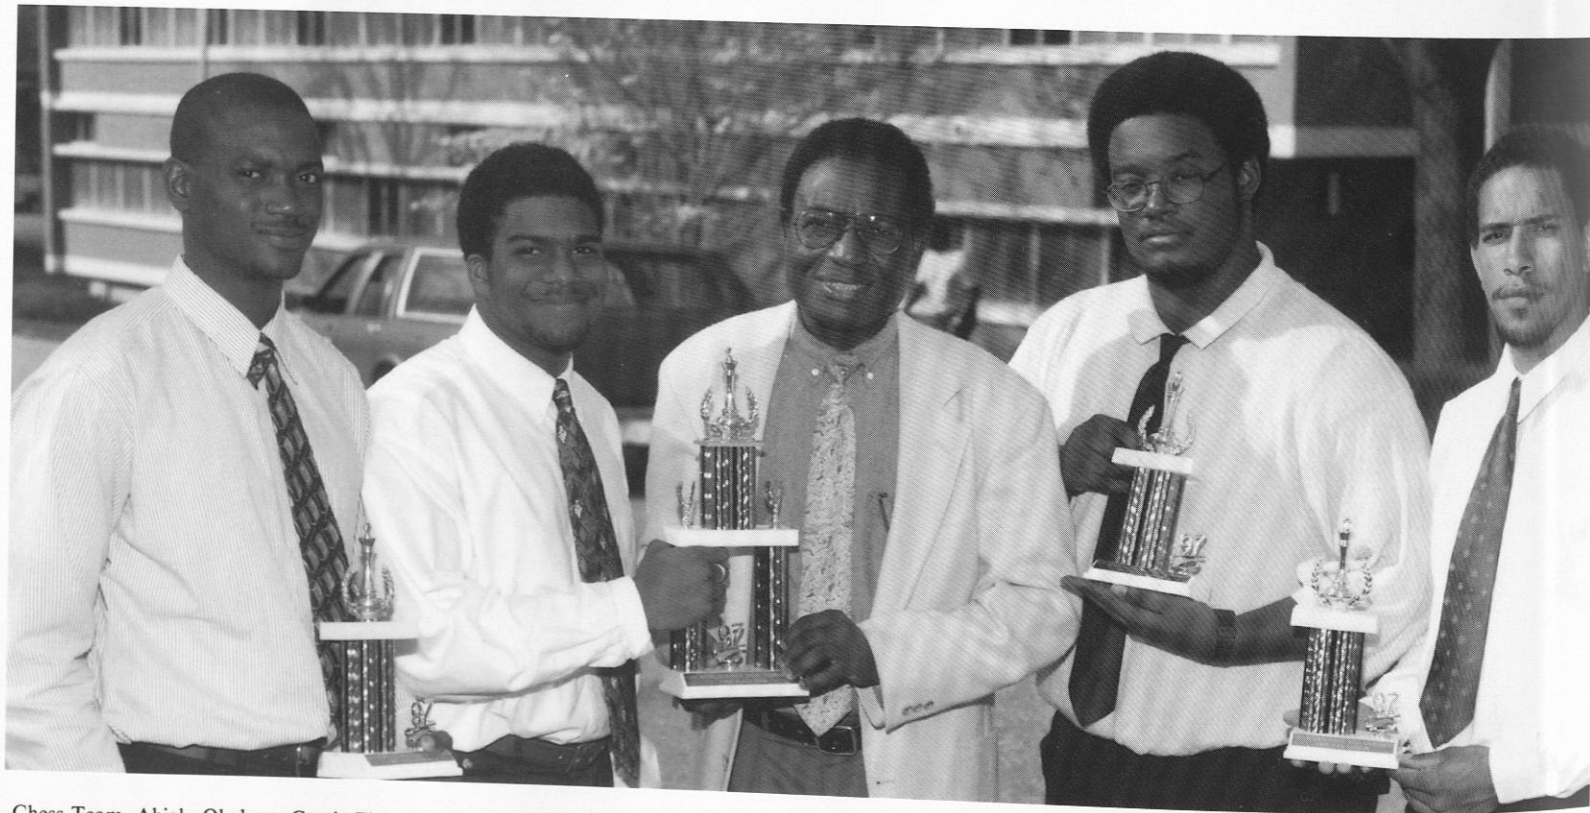

Students work on their programs in the Engineering Building.

Beating Some of the Best

Some people believe champions are made and not born. However, that may have been proven untrue for the chess team that was only organized for one semester. They practiced once a week and they won matches against the University of Alabama at Huntsville, Troy State University, the University of South Alabama, Beville State Community College, the University of West Alabama, and Auburn University in the University of Alabama at the Huntsville Inter-Collegiate Chess Team Tournament.

Abiola Oladapo said winning is "overcoming the opposition. You need a strong and tight attack structure that . . . comes about by study and practice."
(Information provided by The Tuskegee Gram.)

WHY DO SO MANY VETERINARIANS SWITCH TO AVImark?

I can no longer imagine practicing veterinary medicine without the help of AVImark software. - Dr. Michael C. Petty, D.V.M., Livonia, MI

You can put AVImark up against any program on the market, and nothing can stand up to it. - Dr. Robert J. Greenwald, D.V.M., Venice, FL

We are pleased that so much of what we need can so easily be accomplished from within ONE COMPLETE PROGRAM. To sum it up, THIS PROGRAM WORKS without working the user! - Paula L. Jones, Office Manager, Greensboro, AL

Take THEIR word for it or see for yourself...

AVImark Practice Management Software has become so popular because it offers more capability and flexibility than packages costing two, three and four times as much. It achieves this with a level of efficiency and ease of use that no other product can match. For proof of this, call for our FREE, full-running AVImark demo disk. It only makes sense when looking for a good practice management system to call colleagues who use that system and ask about their experiences. We would be delighted to send you a list of veterinarians in your area who already use AVImark. We are sure you will be impressed with their high level of satisfaction. With 2,600 installations and growing, it's easy to see why more veterinarians recommend AVImark more than any other practice management software.
