

ABOUT THE COVER . . .

This picture of White Hall Tower is a historic landmark of Tuskegee Institute. White Hall (dormitory for women) was given by the White sisters in memory of their father, Mr. Alexander Moss White, of Brooklyn, New York.

The music staff depicts the "Tuskegee Song" as blended with the chiming clock of WHITE HALL TOWER.

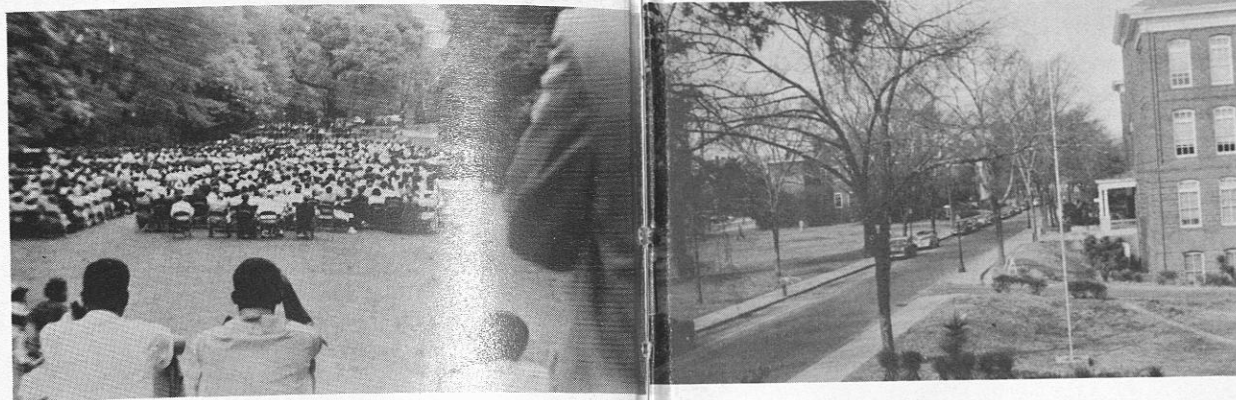

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE - TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, ALABAMA

A Technical and Professional College

Oh, mother Tuskegee, thou shinest today
As a gem in the fairest of lands;
Thou gavest the heav'n-blessed power to see
The worth of our minds and our hands.
We thank thee, we bless thee, we pray for thee years
Imploring with grateful accord,
Full fruit for thy striving, time longer to strive,
Sweet love and true labor's reward.

To one who has so given his life, energy, and devotion we humbly dedicate this book that it might serve as a reminder to succeeding generations of students here that through the efforts of such men has come the greatness of Tuskegee Institute.

As the Institute is dedicated to the furthering of our democratic society through education, so he has dedicated himself to education through his service to the Institute. Thus, it is through the veins of such men that the life blood of the Institute flows, and contributes toward the growth and success of the Institute.

Therefore, we humbly and gratefully dedicate this, the 1955 edition of Tuskeana, to Dr. William A. Hunter, whom we hold in high esteem because of his energetic and untiring efforts which have contributed much toward the growth and success of the entire student body.

THE TUSKEANA STAFF OF 1955

Citation . . .

The Tuskeana Staff of 1955 cites:

General Benjamin O. Davis, one of the few Negroes to reach the height of military success, is our ideal of a man with courage and determination to succeed in face of overwhelming odds.

GENERAL BENJAMIN O. DAVIS

Honorable Thurgood Marshall, the figure of the decade, is the pillar of strength and advancement for the Negro in the war against racial prejudice and injustice.

HONORABLE THURGOOD MARSHALL

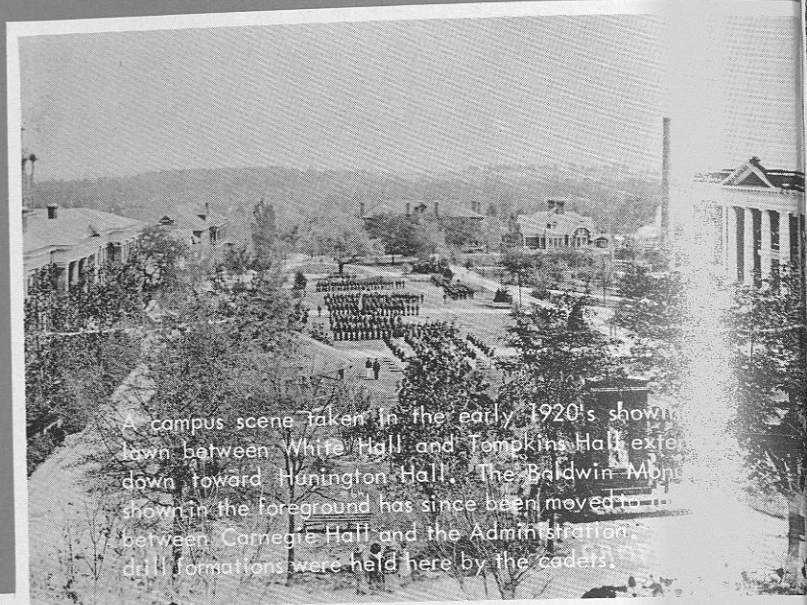

DR. ROBERT D. REID

Dr. Robert D. Reid, Instructor of the Year, who has devoted his energy, wisdom, and efforts toward the growth and success of the entire student body.

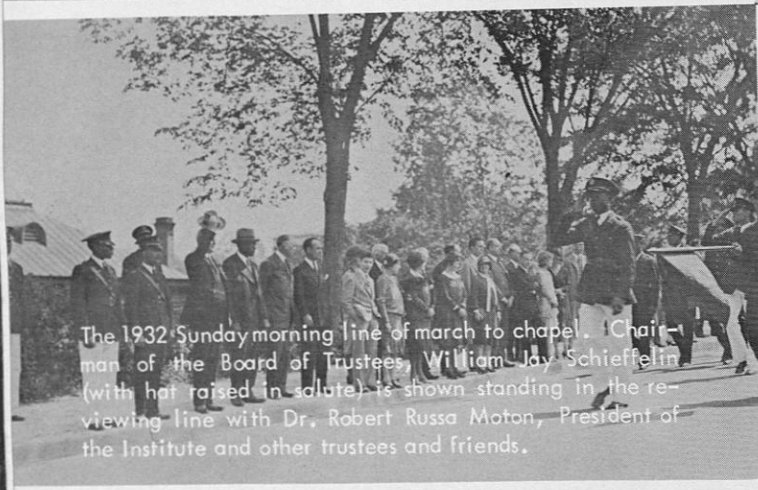

Tuskegee . . .

Yesterday

Tuskegee Institute, the pride of the swift growing South, evolved through the patient process of trying to render the most service to the most people. Through the help and cooperation of courageous and faithful friends, North and South, Tuskegee Institute, under the competent leadership of Dr. Booker T. Washington, grew to be a

A campus scene taken in the early 1920's showing lawn between White Hall and Tompkins Hall extending down toward Huntington Hall. The Baldwin Monument shown in the foreground has since been moved to a location between Carnegie Hall and the Administration building. Drill formations were held here by the cadets.

The educational philosophy of the earlier Tuskegee was centered around Dr. Washington's philosophy that . . . We shall prosper in proportions as we learn to glorify and dignify labor and put brains and skill into the common occupations of life." The beginning curriculum consisted of teacher training, agriculture, and industrial education. With the gradual introduction of new fields as the needs arose, Tuskegee Institute became the focal point of economic, social, and political activities of Negroes in the North and South.

Tuskegee Institute Chapel with its famed "singing windows" stands to inspire solemn awe in the hearts of student worshippers.

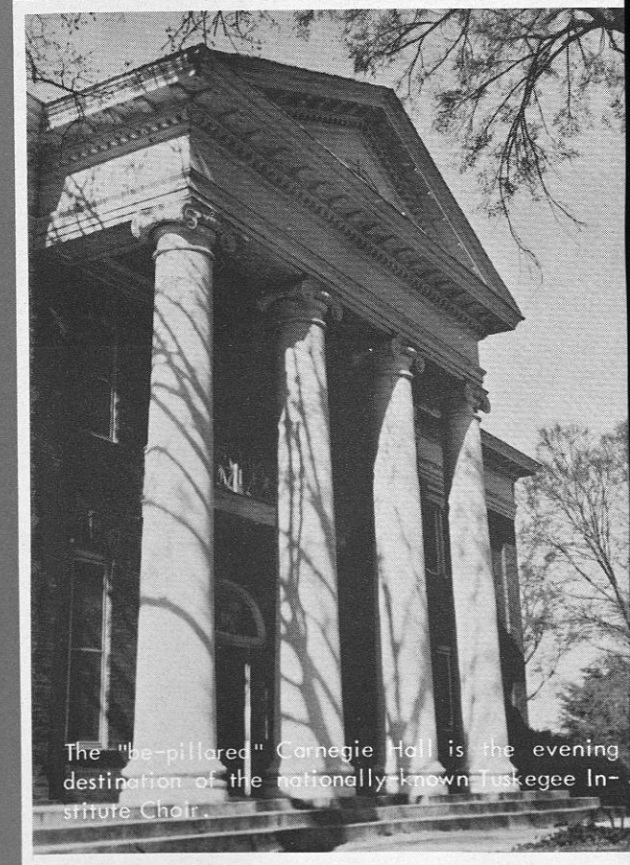

The massive structure of Tompkins Dining Hall is a haven for more than the hungry, for it houses comfortable quarters for recreational activities.

. . . Today

Tuskegee Institute is recognized today as an educational and social force active in the solution of minority group problems, in the nation and in the world. Rated as an "A" grade college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the State of Alabama, it is composed of 159 buildings valued at $11,246,898.00 and 4,925 acres of land. The complete physical plant, including buildings and land is valued at $13,720,254.00.

Tuskegee is an active member of the United Negro College Fund, which conducts an annual campaign for current operating expenses for 31 private Negro colleges; and is affiliated with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Southern Regional Education Board. The John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital has a residency training program which it jointly sponsors with the Veterans Administration; and the School of Education operates model laboratory schools in the community.

Because of present and future demands for trained leadership, Tuskegee Institute is moving into the area of professional and technical training.

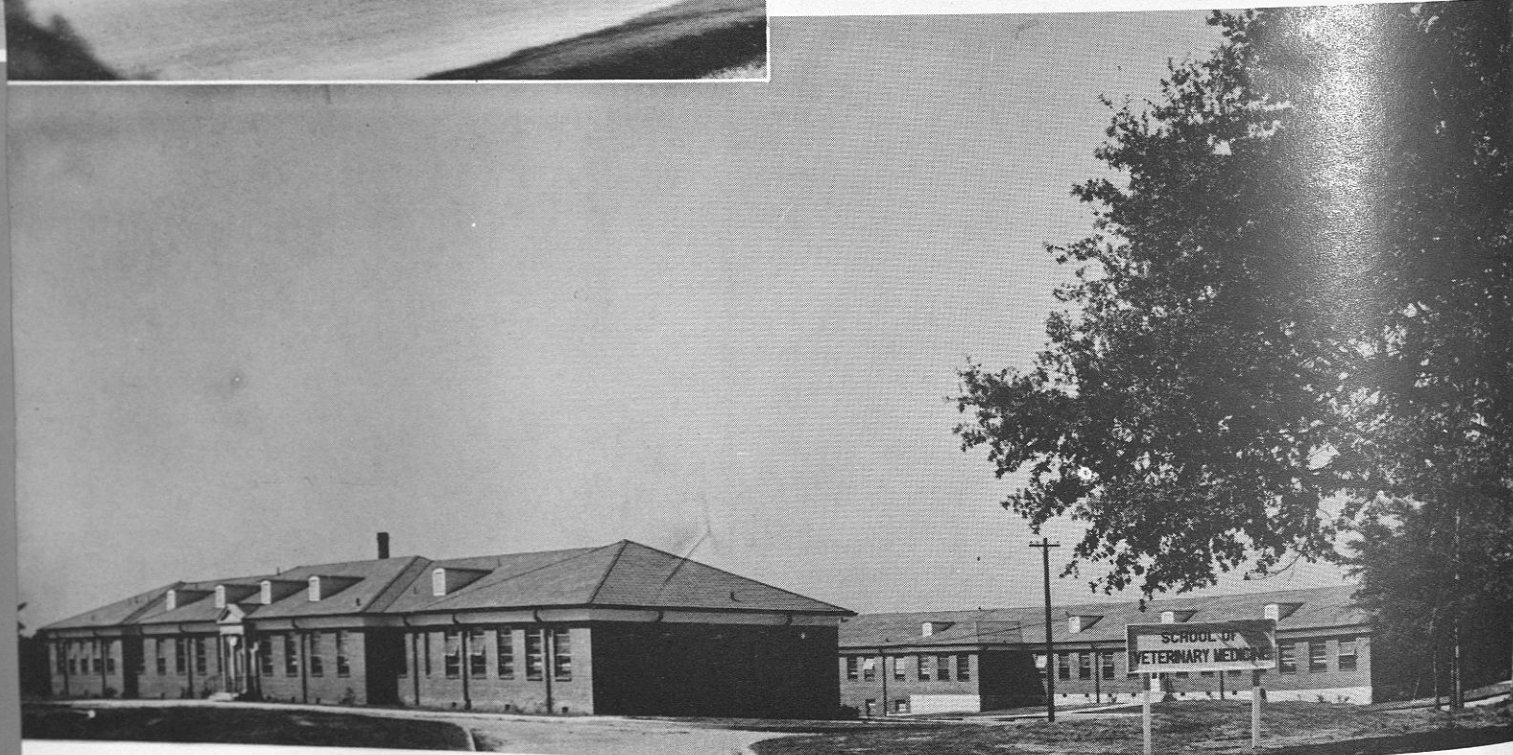

The "be-pillared" Carnegie Hall is the evening destination of the nationally-known Tuskegee Institute Choir.

Today ...

"Service made-to-order" is the motto for Dorothy Hall Guest House and the newly added Coffee Shop.

An ultra-modern addition to the campus is this new residence hall for graduate students, faculty, and staff members.

The School of Veterinary Medicine is noted as one of the top ten in the country.

This immortal emblem shall stand tomorrow to signify the birth of an institution long to be remembered for its practical approach to education.

The George Washington Carver Foundation is forever devoted to the task of advancement of science through fundamental and applied research.

... Tomorrow

In order to grow and keep a fresh perspective, both faculty and students must constantly seek ways and means of improving their knowledge and methodology in areas of specialization. Tuskegee, therefore, will continue to conduct extended study of research in each area where courses are taught. With this program, Tuskegee will grow to be one of the best professional and technical colleges in the country.

With its continued public relations program in race relations, Tuskegee will continue to be recognized as an educational and social force in the solution of race problems, in the nation and in the world. Tomorrow, Tuskegee Institute will be the focal point of an integrated society, operating on a co-racial basis, and encouraging the complete integration of the Negro.

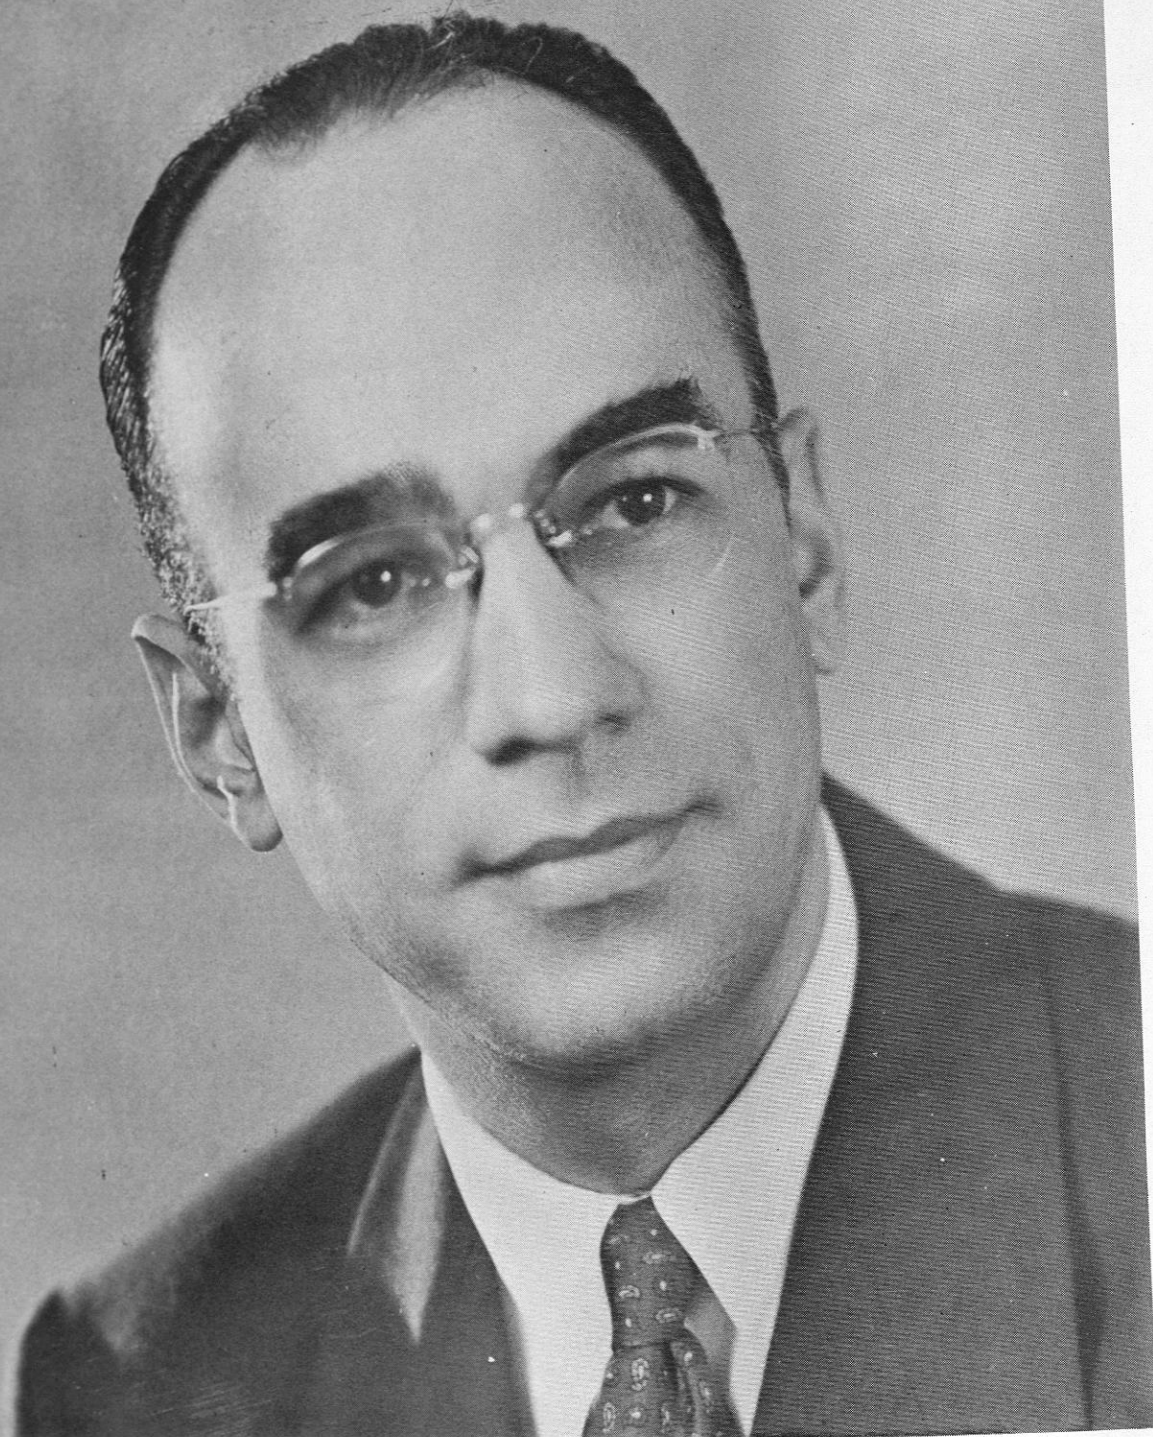

The first wing of our modern Engineering Building.

When completed, The Food Processing Plant will assume a unique roll on the campus and in the community.

March 25, 1955

TO: THE SENIORS OF TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE

Today and tomorrow are bright for you. There is a spirit of confidence abroad in the world. There is an abundance of opportunity to challenge you. This is not news to you. It is what you expected and what you hoped for. We, who are your teachers and friends at Tuskegee, are glad there is this brightness ahead for you.

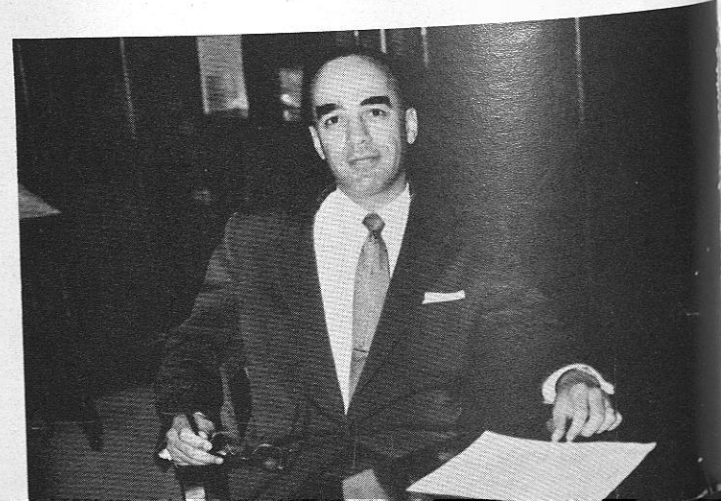

But yesterday is not completely passed either. You leave Tuskegee now to join the force which makes this world move. You must draw on all the experiences of your past, for each will help. The many good ones will light the way to positive action. The few bad ones will show the folly of low standards. The ordinary will remind you that mediocrity is never a high enough goal.

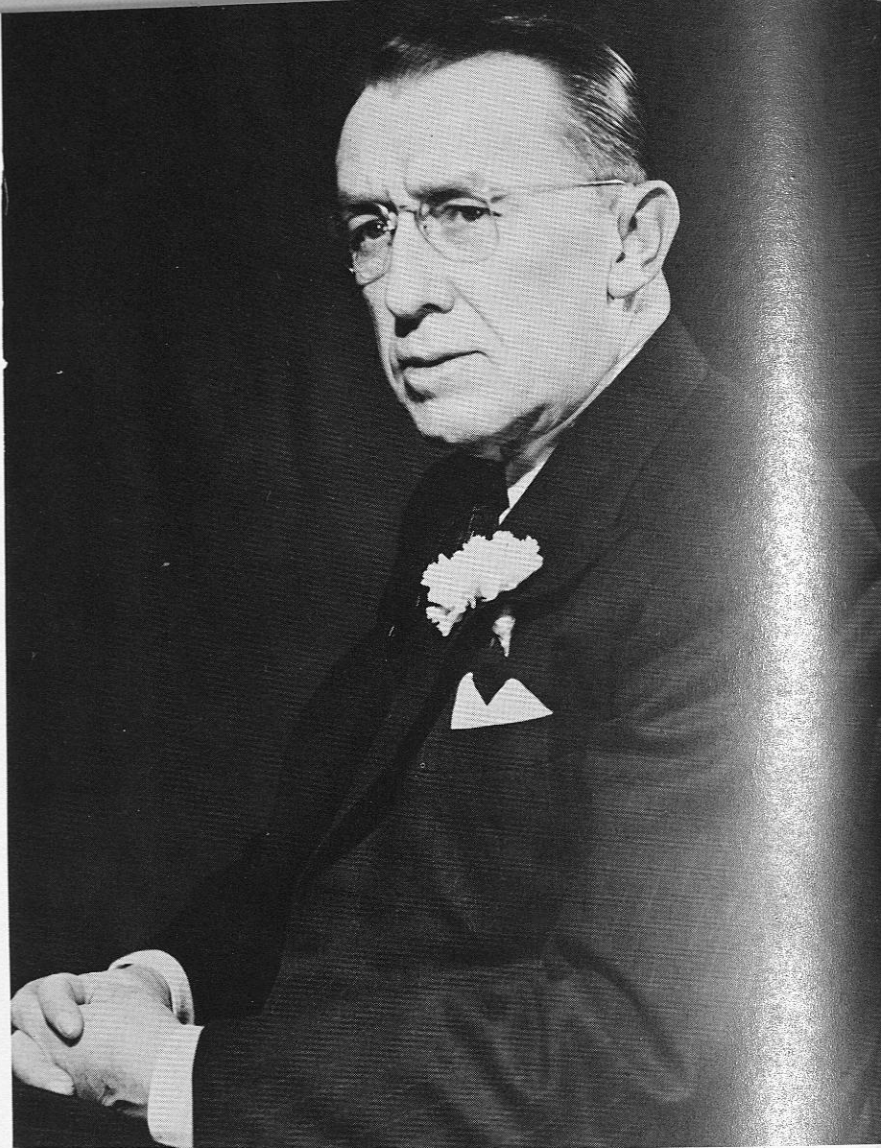

As you live your life, I hope it will always be in a way which helps keep alive in you and among all your associates a feeling of hope, a sense of right, and a continuing urge to provide opportunity for those who come along tomorrow as you have come today.

Best wishes for a long life and happy times.

Sincerely yours,

School of

The School of Education has long since been one of the primary areas of learning in the Tuskegee Institute curriculum. Today, the undergraduate program consists of an integrated curriculum for prospective teachers of elementary schools and of specialized curricula for those who anticipate employment in secondary schools. The integrated and the specialized curricula provide all the basic requirements in both general and professional education for teacher certification in Alabama and other states.

The School of Education is so planned that the personality traits, the interests, and the aptitudes of each student be studied carefully, and that professional guidance be provided so as to make possible the most intelligent choices and utilization of available education resources.

Education

In cooperation with the County School Board, the supervisor of Negro Schools in Macon County, and the local teachers in these schools; the School of Education is operating several laboratory schools. These schools serve as important centers for observation and demonstration in the education of pre-service teachers.

John A. Andrew

The John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital was erected in 1912 as a memorial gift by Mrs. Charles E. Mason in honor of her grandfather, John Albion Andrew, Governor of Massachusetts, 1831-1866. Dr. John A. Kenney, the first medical director of Tuskegee Institute, fostered the plan and through his untiring diligence started the original hospital unit, which is today one of the outstanding hospital centers of the entire South.

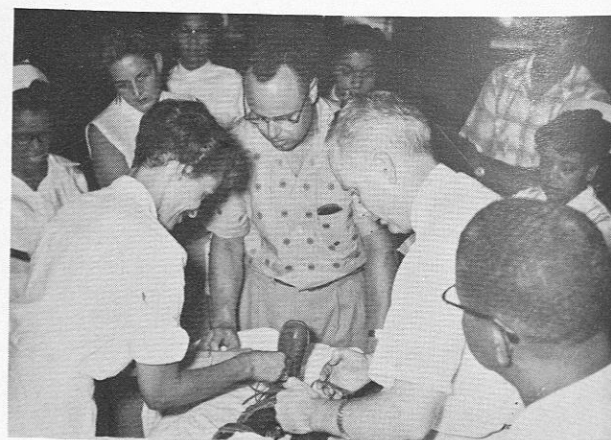

The original hospital contained approximately 65 beds for medical, surgical, pediatric, and obstetrical cases which served the students, faculty, and community. Additions made in 1930, 1940, and 1945 to the original building have further increased the size of the hospital to 165 beds.

The Student Health Service Center, under the supervision of the hospital, is located on the first floor. Participation in the health program is compulsory for all full-time students in the community. Health is a cooperative responsibility.

Dr. Robert Bennett, Medical Director, Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, lectures on philosophy of treatment of poliomyelitis to medical team of John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Bennett discusses polio patient's condition with hospital staff.

Miss Tuskegee 1954-'55

Thelma Neal, a senior from Covington, Tennessee, was elected by her fellow students to reign as "Miss Tuskegee" for the school year 1954-55.

"Miss Tuskegee" is chosen on the basis of intelligence, wise judgment, and scholarship. Miss Neal possesses all of these qualities. She is a personality with her fellow co-eds, and is also recognized by them as a good representative who is able to talk fluently, meet and entertain people.

An English major, Thelma is a member of the Little Theatre. She was assistant director of a one-act play entitled "Fright" which was presented as a class project. She is an active member of various campus organizations, some of which are: Junior Counselors, Associated Women Students, Sunday School, African-American Relations Organizations, and Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. She is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Thelma is a Student Leader and serves as usher for all Entertainment Course features.

Miss Neal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Neal, Sr. She was valedictorian of her high school graduating class of Frazier High School, Covington, Tennessee.

"Miss Tuskegee's" attendants are: Miss Gwendolyn Storrs (left), a senior in the School of Education, majoring in English. Miss Storrs is from Montgomery, Alabama. Miss Bessie Stockard (right), a senior in the Department of Physical Education. Miss Stockard is from Nashville, Tennessee.

These men are members of the R. O. T. C. and they serve as ushers in the Institute Chapel during services on Sunday and other special events. They render their services voluntarily and with the smoothness and effectiveness that is to be expected of them. There are seventeen ushers and they are selected on the basis of their morals by those who see and respect these qualities in them. The main feature of the Chapel Ushers is that of taking the general offering during Sunday services on the campus. This is done in strict military manner and through rehearsed stages.

The Liaison Officers' Club represents over 1200 men living in the Institute's 16 men's dormitories. Its membership is composed of the dormitory counselors as appointed by the Dean of Men.

The organization's main functions are the improvement of living conditions in the dormitories, and the enforcement of rules regarding men's conduct in their living quarters. It has worked with the Junior Counselors to improve the conduct of all students.

Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges

WHO'S WHO is a national organization that selects distinguished students throughout America for their scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extra-curricular activities, general citizenship, and promise of future usefulness. WHO'S WHO was organized in 1934-35 to give recognition to those students who contributed most to school life.

Students nominated and accepted will be listed in the annual directory of distinguished students from colleges and universities throughout America. This annual will give a biographical sketch and write-up of each student selected.

The Student-Faculty Council, composed of students and faculty members, is the official body that provides for student participation in making decisions concerning those affairs of the Institute which are closely related to student life and interest. In addition to serving as the organ through which the students make known their needs and wishes on matters of concern to them, the Student-Faculty Council also elects students to serve on many of the faculty and administrative committees of the Institute.

Two major accomplishments of the Student-Faculty Council for the year 1954-55 were: the integration of male and female students at the Sunday and Wednesday night Chapel services, and the campus-wide election of the Editor-in-Chief of the Campus Digest.

The Commercial Dietetics Club was organized in 1936. Its purpose is to provide avenues for the students enrolled in Commercial Dietetics and Institution Management to enjoy collectively social and educational activities. In the past years, the students have had annual dances and picnics and have worked together for the homecoming parades and other campus affairs. Representatives from this department have attended: The National Hotel Exposition in New York; the Pan American Hotel Exposition in Miami, Florida. On several occasions, field trips have been made to many places of interest in the food fields.

For the past three years the club has steadily progressed under the leadership of one president. Much credit is due Mr. Willie Wilson who has willingly served as acting President during the absence of the president, Mr. George Hatchet.

On June 16, 1920 at Howard University, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was founded by Arizona Cleaver Stemmons, Myrtle Tyler, Fannie Pettie, and Pearl Neal; assisted by two Sigma brothers, Charles Robert Taylor and A. Langston Taylor, thus becoming the sister sorority to Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity. Zeta Phi Beta Sorority strives toward Finer Womanhood, Scholarship and Service.

The Theta Beta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority is dedicated to Sisterhood, Scholarship, and Service. It joins in the observance of "Finer Womanhood Week" which is celebrated the last week in February of each year. This year Theta Beta Chapter selected Miss Mildred McDaniel as "Girl of the Year."

Honestly?

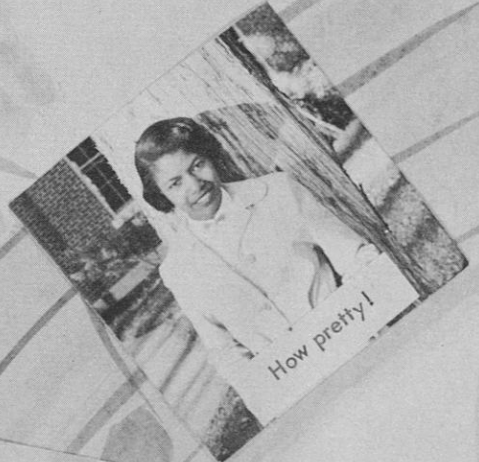

Smile now.

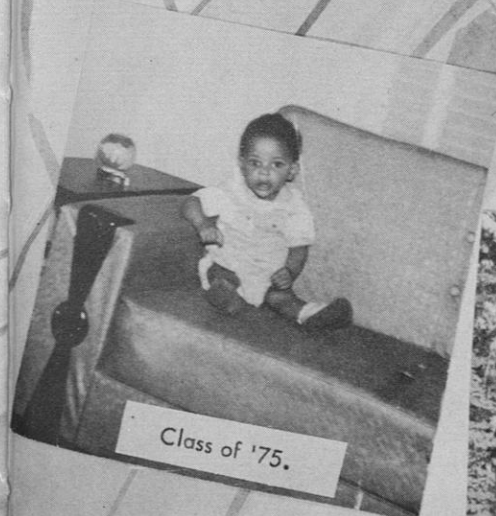

Ready for the run.

Didn't believe me, did you?

How pretty!

Class of '75.

Waiting for the Line of March.

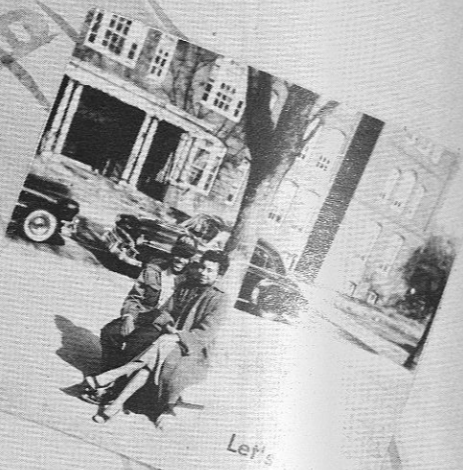

Behind the Scenes.

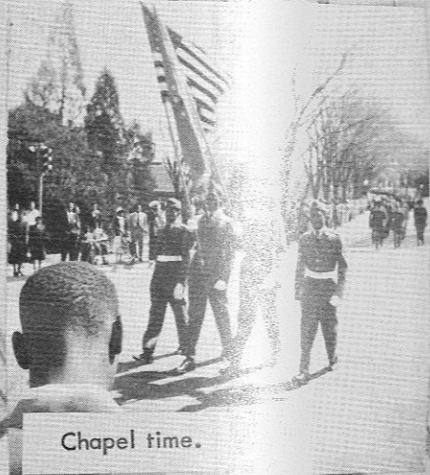

Twins?

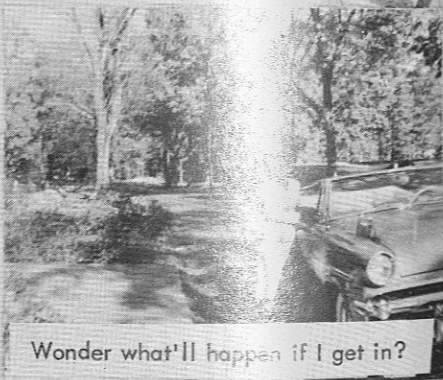

Hope he doesn't see me.

Let's

Chapel time.

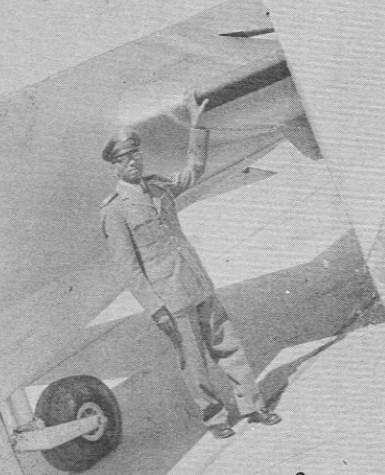

Wonder what'll happen if I get in?

Couldn't make it any farther.

I have something to say . .

Flight No. 2.

After the big race.

Some trick.

Who's honoring whom?

Are you sitting or standing?

You aren't listening to me.

A little fatherly advice.

Wonder if they're thinking alike

Did you call me?

Are you trying to hide something?

What sweet smelling flowers .

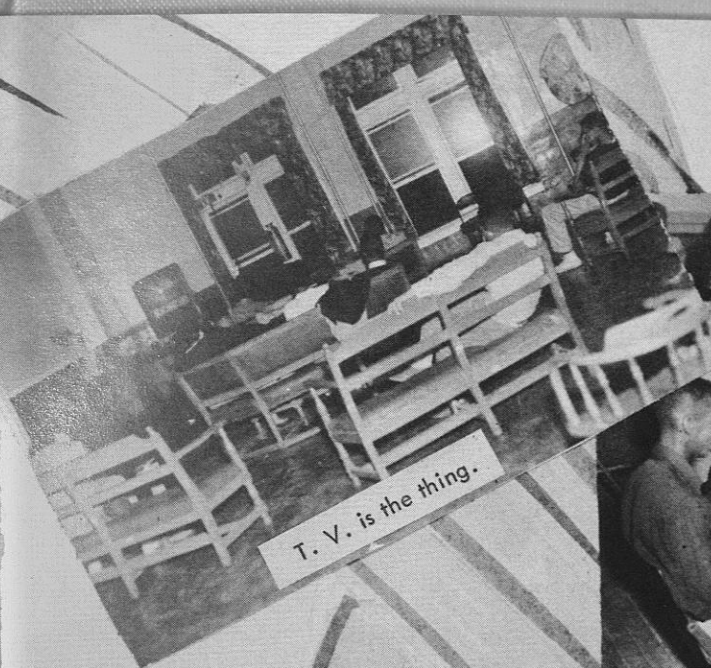

One afternoon

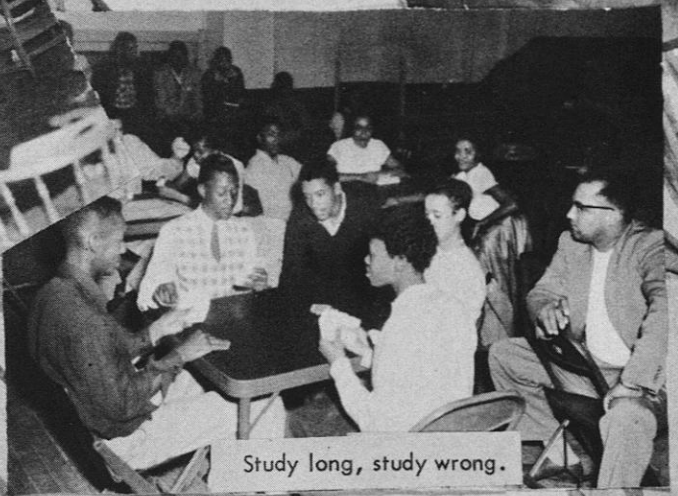

I'm still so hungry.

Living 'em up!

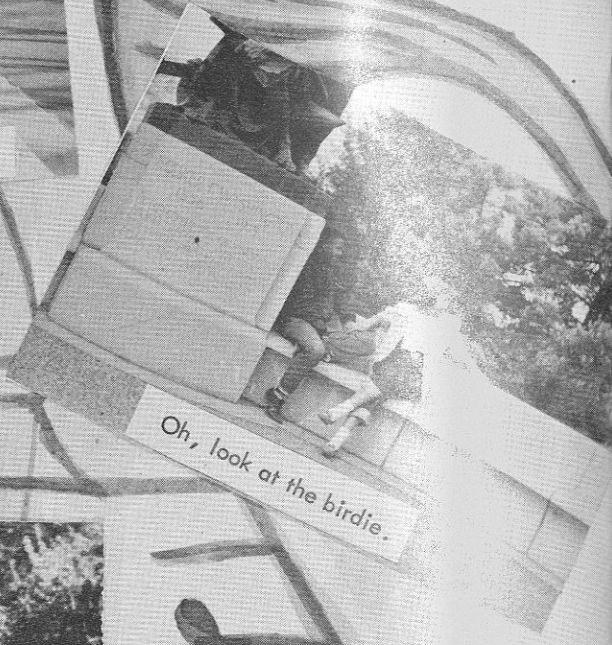

T. V. is the thing.

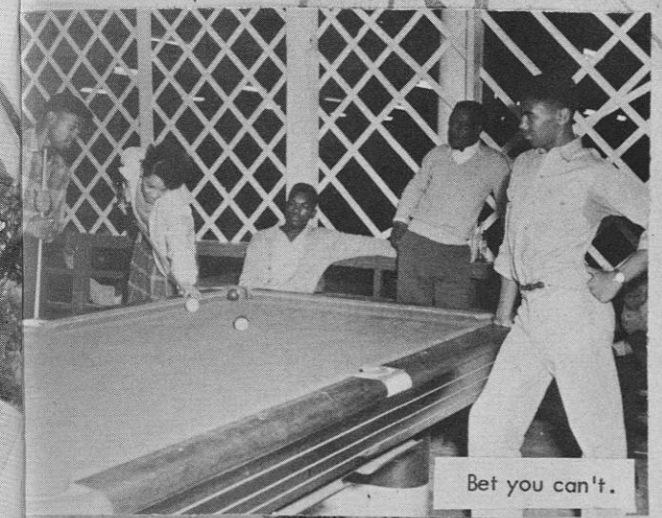

Study long, study wrong.

Some combination, huh?

Oh, look at the birdie.

Bet you can't.

I've got it bad.

Any one looking?

If only I could stay here.

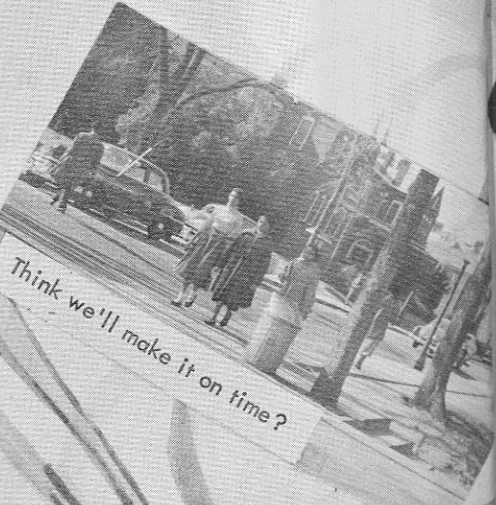

Sure 'nough?

Sure is a beautiful day.

On a Sunday morning.

Think we'll make it on time?

Step lively, there

Hey, you I Catchers.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In publishing this annual, the staff wishes to acknowledge many sources of aid and many valuable suggestions from the adviser and from the administration.

The staff is especially indebted to many students who throughout the year have contributed through materials and ideas. Special acknowledgement is made to the Alumni for their financial contributions toward making this a successful yearbook. To all of our friends who aided us with their advertisements and interest, participation and encouragement, we extend our deepest appreciation.

It is fervently hoped that the production of the "Tuskeana 1955" will be of some assistance to the class of 1956 in the publication of their annual. Then, it is further hoped that the annual of the class of 1956 will exhibit better evidence of a job well done. Moreover, may the Tuskeana 1955 open new avenues in the future for the production of a greater yearbook at Tuskegee.

When a job is completed, an editor-in-chief can really appreciate those with whom he has worked, plus the invaluable assistance of those who were not official members of the staff. To this small core of people who worked so diligently to make this publication a reality goes my sincere gratitude and appreciation.

Sincerely yours,

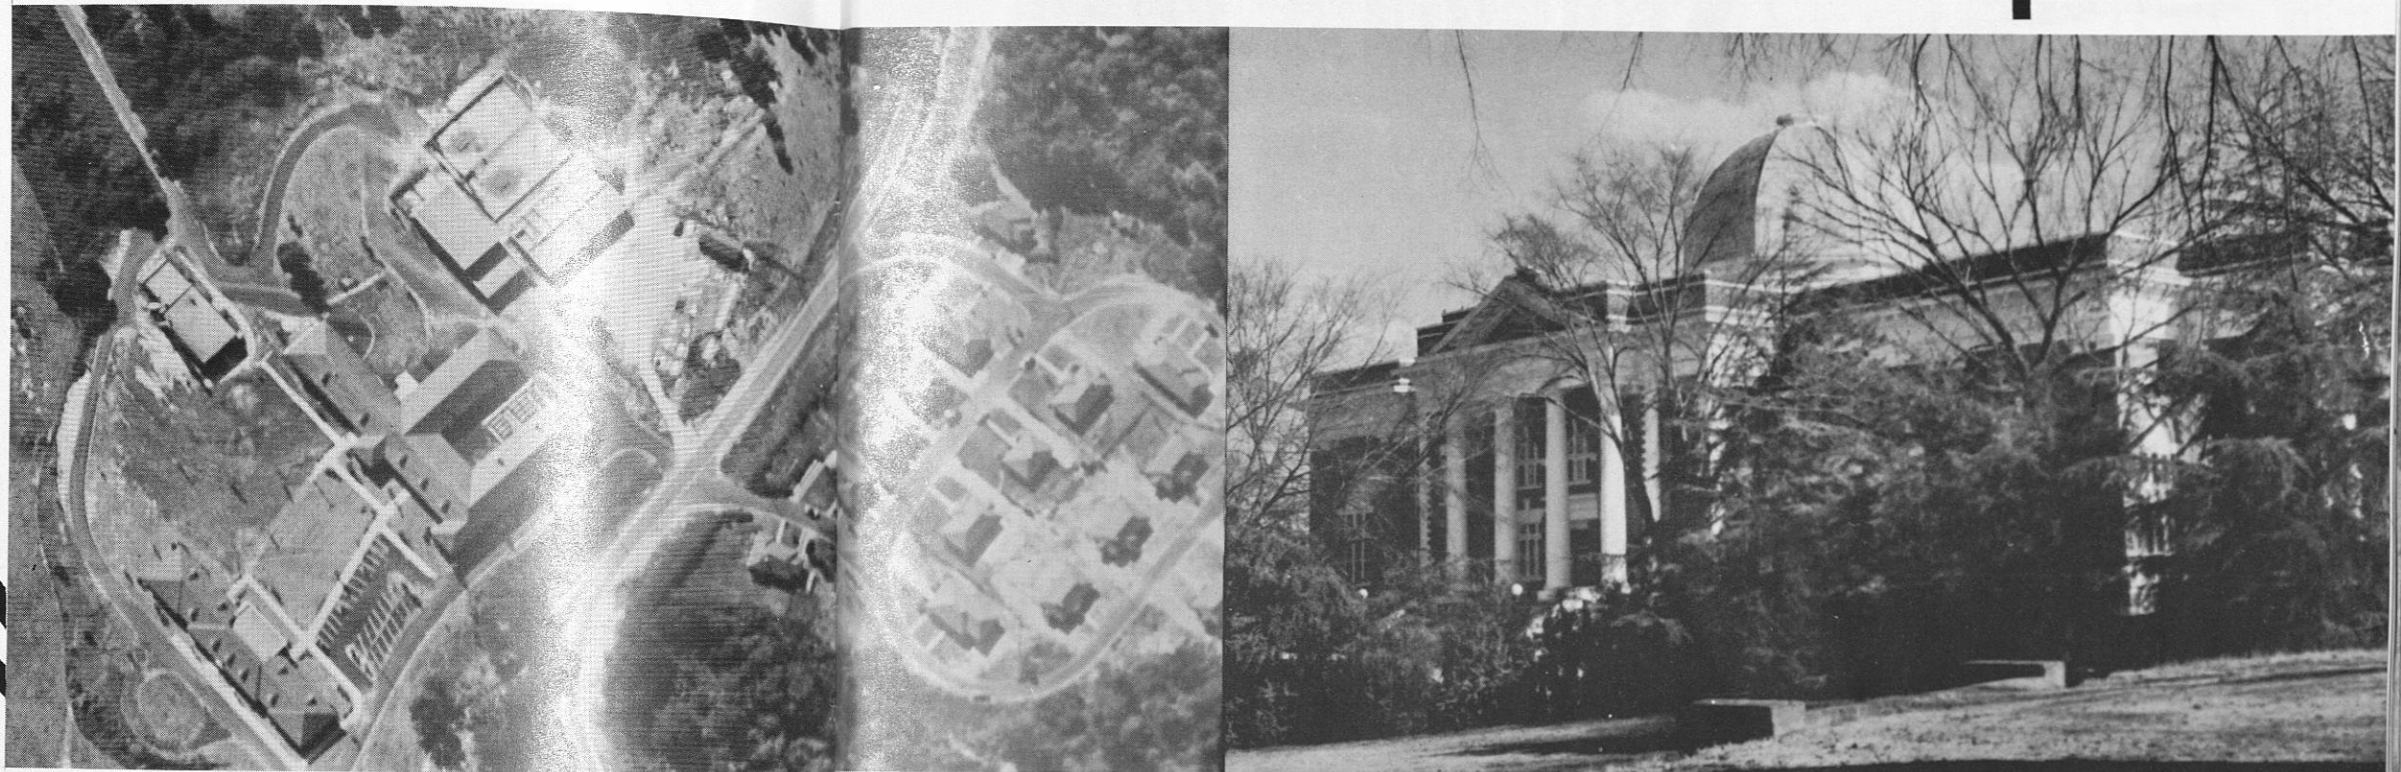

Boykin W. Gartrell

Reflections

Almost a quarter of a century has passed since USECO published its first school annual. As we review those pages of yesteryear, a pleasant thought comes to mind—on some tomorrow this, the nineteen hundred and fifty-five edition, will take its place in your heart as a pictorial history of the "good ole' days."

We know this book will increase in value with the passing of each year, and are honored to have played a part in recording it.
