THE FORTY-FIFTH ANNUAL

Tuskegee Negro Farmers Conference

Established by BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

Wednesday, December 4, 1935

Tuskegee Institute, Alabama

F. D. PATTERSON, President

PREFACE

This year the Annual Negro Conference differs from those of the past in that it is particularly concerned with contributing to the solution of farm problems. Conferences dealing with other aspects of the Negro's social and economic problems will be held from time to time throughout the year.

Rapidly changing economic and social conditions call for a more intensive study of the varied activities of life in order that successful adjustment on the part of society can best be effected. The best way to perpetuate our heritage in the Nation's leading industry, Agriculture, is to make the business of farming attractive, self-sustaining and compensatory.

As has been the aim of the Annual Negro Farmers' Conference in the past forty-four years, it is hoped that the forty-fifth annual session will be successful in bringing to those attending the conference information which will more fully contribute towards creating progressive leadership for the rural South. When industry, brains and skill are put into the occupations of farming, the business of farming can be made to pay.
